Calcutta, the 24th December, 1888.

From—H. J. S. COTTON, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 4268.-G., dated the 5th December 1888, forwarding a communication from the Magistrate of Balasore, in which he brings to the notice of Government proposals made by Kumars Baikuntha Nath De and Satyendranath De, sons of the late Rajah Shyamanund De Bahadoor of Balasore, to place at the disposal of the District Board of Balasore and of the Magistrate, certain sums to be utilized in charitable and useful objects. It is reported that these gentlemen have made the following offers, which you recommend may be accepted by Government:—

(1). To place in the hands of the Magistrate of Balasore, as a memorial of the visit of the Lieutenant-Governor to that place, a sum of Rs. 500, to be invested in Government 4 per cent. securities; the interest to be utilized in awarding annually a medal, to be called the "Sir Steuart Bayley Medal," to the boy of the Balasore Zillah School who stands highest in Sanskrit at the University Entrance examination.

(2) To transfer to the Balasore District Board, in memory of the late Rajah Shyamanund De Bahadoor, the zemindari right in mouzah Bargan, yielding an annual income of Rs. 306-8-1, out of which a sum of Rs. 200 is to be spent annually in sinking wells or excavating tanks for the supply of good drinking-water to the people in any part of the district selected for this purpose by the District Board: the wells and tanks to be called "Shyamanund Kupa" and "Shyam Sagar" respectively, and the balance to be given as an endowment to the Chandbally Pilgrim Hospital under the name of the "Ranee Sreemati Endowment."

2. In reply, I am directed to say that the Lieutenant-Governor accepts both these offers, and I am to request that you will convey to Kumars Baikuntha Nath De and Satyendranath De, an expression of His Honour's appreciation of their public spirit and liberality. The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Means of 6 days.
† Means of 5 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number are the numerical means of [illegible] of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 21 stations] in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 28th of December 1888

CALCUTTA, the 31*st December* 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 28TH OF DECEMBER 1888.

THE meteorological conditions in Bengal during the week call for little or no remark. Ordinary north-east monsoon weather has prevailed for the whole period. The sky has been practically cloudless, rainfall has been entirely absent, temperature and humidity have been low, while pressure has been high. During the earlier part of the week the temperature was somewhat above the normal for the period, while humidity was about normal; but from the middle of the week temperature commenced generally to fall, the fall being rather large at the western stations; while the fall of temperature was accompanied by a very decided diminution of humidity, and at the western stations in particular during the second half of the week the air was decidedly dry.

In the Bay also conditions have been of ordinary character throughout the week, and a nearly normal north-east monsoon has been blowing; winds being light to moderate in strength over the northern half of the Bay, though over the southern half a rather strong monsoon has been blowing.

Pressure.—The pressure changes over the province during the greater part of the week have been remarkably small, and generally for the first six days the variations have not exceeded one or two hundredths of an inch, and on some days there has been practically no variation at all, pointing to the fact that weather conditions have been of a very settled character during the week. On the 28th, however, and in some cases on both the 27th and 28th, a somewhat rapid reduction of pressure set in, the fall at a few stations almost amounting to a tenth of an inch. For the whole province for the week pressure has generally been above the normal by amounts varying from 0·01 inch to 0·03 inch.

Temperature.—At the beginning of the week temperature, though moderate only, was decidedly above the normal, but during the week it has fallen decidedly, and the last three or four days were much cooler than the first half of the week. Notwithstanding this reduction, the mean temperature of the whole province has been about a degree above the normal for the period The excess temperatures have, however, been most marked in the minimum or night temperatures.

The general range of temperature during the week is shown in the table below where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are given compared with the normal values for the same period:—

NOTICE.

THE following notification [No. 344 (Education), dated 17th September 1888, by the Government of India, page 428, Part I] from the Gazette of India of the 22nd September 1888 is re-printed for general information.

EDUCATION.

The 17th September 1888.

No. 344.—The Government of India having taken into its consideration certain representations made by the Central Committee of the "Countess of Dufferin's Fund," and by the Committee of School Inspectors assembled in 1886 to revise the European School Code, is anxious to prescribe a text-book on domestic economy and sanitary science for the use of the senior classes of English and Anglo-Vernacular schools. What is required is a work which shall primarily treat of the subjects dealt with in the Sanitary Primer, entitled the "Way to Health," in a manner suitable for more advanced and senior pupils, and also discuss topics of domestic economy. The principles of elementary physiology, so far as is appropriate and necessary to elucidate the other subjects, should also be discussed. It is desirable that the book should be handy in form, and it therefore should not cover more than 150 pages of small octavo size. The Governor-General in Council considers that the best means of securing a text-book of the required character is to offer a reward for the preparation of such a work. His Excellency in Council has accordingly decided to offer a reward of Rs. 1,000 for the best text-book on the subject. Competitors should send their compositions to the Home Office, Simla, either in print or in very legible manuscript (half margin), not later than the 1st September 1889. Each work should bear a motto and have a sealed envelope attached, with the same motto outside and the name of the author within.

The successful manuscript will become the property of the Government. Unsuccessful manuscripts will be returned, if the author's address be communicated in the attached sealed envelope.

The Government of India reserves to itself the right of withholding the reward of granting only a portion of it should no work attain the required standard of excellence.

The following works may with advantage be consulted by intending competitors :—

WITHDRAWAL OF THE INLAND EMIGRATION ACT FROM THE DISTRICTS OF CHITTAGONG AND THE CHITTAGONG HILL TRACTS.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—INLAND EMIGRATION.

Calcutta, the 8th January 1889.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The following correspondence on the subject of the proposed withdrawal of the districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts from the operation of the Inland Emigration Act No. I of 1882 :—

Letter from the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, No. 767GM—IX-5, dated 13th August 1888.

Letter to the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, No. 95T—G, dated 18th October 1888.

Letter from the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, dated 31st October 1888.

Letter from the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, No. 1093, dated 9th November 1888.

Letter to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, No. 186, dated 3rd December 1888.

Letter from the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, No. 234—26-24E., dated 21st December 1888.

The special procedure provided by Act I of 1882 for enforcing labour contracts in certain specified areas is in force, as far as the Lower Provinces are concerned, only in the districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts. The Commissioner of Chittagong has frequently urged their withdrawal as not required in his division; and in reviewing the departmental report for the year 1885, Sir Rivers Thompson so far accepted this view as to express a hope that the time was approaching when, considering the falling off in the number of labourers enrolled under the Act, it would be possible to adopt the course recommended. As the results of the following year shewed a further decline, Sir Steuart Bayley called for a special report on the subject, which the Commissioner has since submitted. In this communication it is stated that such planters as had been consulted are unanimous in considering that the Act is not required, the ordinary law being sufficient to guard the interests both of employers and employed. This is the view of the District Officers also, and the Commissioner gives his own opinion as follows :—

"It is not adapted to a district where labour is as plentiful as it is here, and where there is, now at least, no objection to taking work on a garden. So far as I have seen, the Act here is entirely against the interests of the cooly and of the better class of planters, while it is favourable to the worst class of planters only. Happily this last class is so small that it may be said to be non-existent. I strongly recommend, therefore, that under the provisions of section 4, the Inland Emigration Act be withdrawn entirely from the districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts."

2. In deciding whether the recommendation thus forcibly expressed by the local officers should be accepted, the Lieutenant-Governor has to give due weight to the consideration that the Government of India has repeatedly indicated for adoption the policy of dispensing with special legislation on the subject of labour contracts wherever it is possible to do so, leaving the matter to the operation of the ordinary law of the country. "Such legislation," the Secretary of State observed in a despatch No. 102, dated 4th November 1886, "should be considered as temporary only, and clearly ought not to be maintained longer than is absolutely necessary for the protection of both the classes concerned." Viewed from this standpoint, it seems clear that the retention of the system in the two districts referred to scarcely admits of defence. In the Hill Tracts the Act cannot be said to be necessary, as it is not now resorted to even in the case of a single labourer. In Chittagong the number of labourers placed under contract according to the provisions of the Act was never large, and has rapidly decreased in recent years: it was 915 in 1884 and had fallen to 433 in 1887, with the prospect of a further decrease in the immediate future. There is nothing in the condition of the tea industry in Chittagong to suggest that it should be placed under an exceptional system, different from that prevailing in the rest of the province, and particularly in the districts of Darjeeling and Julpigoree, which are now the chief seats of the cultivation of the tea plant. Chittagong is more densely populated than other tea districts in Bengal, local labour is more generally used, and the importation of coolies is resorted to only on a very minute scale. The maintenance of the statutory contract system cannot, therefore, be looked upon as really a necessity in that district, and there is even reason to believe that, so far as it has any effect at all, it is rather a hindrance than an aid to the progress of tea cultivation. It certainly has not effected the object which the late Commissioner of Chittagong had in view when recommending its introduction in the year 1877—that of modifying the system of task work in the interest of the labourer.

3. The Inland Emigration Act leaves to the Local Government, with the previous consent of the Government of India, the power of altering from time to time the area within which the law is in force. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that this power should now be exercised, and accordingly issues the appended notification with the approval of the Governor-General in Council. The Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs to Government has advised that this measure will not affect existing contracts otherwise than by putting an end to the exceptional procedure by which they are at present enforced, leaving them in operation as ordinary engagements within the cognizance of the civil courts.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the notification be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, with reference to the correspondence ending with his letter No. $\frac{767G.M}{IX-5}$, dated 13th August 1888, for information, and for favour of communication to the Inspectors of Labourers and Managers of tea-gardens.

Ordered also, that a copy of the Resolution and of the notification be forwarded to the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Dated Calcutta, the 8th January 1889.

NOTIFICATION—By the Government of Bengal, General Department.

UNDER section 4 of the Inland Emigration Act I of 1882, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, is pleased to declare that, on and from the 1st April 1889, the labour-districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts shall cease to be subject to the provisions of the said Act by which they are declared to be labour-districts, and to all the provisions of the Act applicable only to labour-districts.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

IRRIGATION.

THE following notes on irrigation operations from the Sone canals during the past kharif season are published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. I. HARRISON, Lieut.-Col., R E.,
Offg. Joint-Secretary.

Note by C. W. ODLING, ESQ., Superintending Engineer, Sone Circle, on irrigation operations from the Sone Canals during the kharif season 1888-89,—dated 14th December 1888.

CHARACTER OF THE SEASON.

(1). The most salient characteristics of the season were—

I.—The late date on which the rains commenced. No rain fell at Arrah until the 2nd of July, and the rains throughout the area commanded by the canals may be said to have been delayed until this time.

II.—The late rise of the river Sone. No water was available for irrigation before the 30th of June, though the 25th June is the day fixed for the commencement of the supply of water to five years' leases. Since 1869 water has always been available before this date.

III.—The almost entire cessation of the rains from the 7th September. The last considerable falls were 1·22 inches at Arrah on the 3rd of September, 0·55 inch at Buxar on the 19th of September, and 1·43 inches at Bankipore on the 7th of September 1888.

IV.—The course of irrigation operations was as follows:—Sowing was completed early in July. Transplanting commenced about the 20th of July, and from the 1st to the 20th August there was a great demand for canal water for this purpose, there being little rain until the 27th of August, when there was a fall of 7·70 inches at Arrah, and heavy falls elsewhere. Transplanting was completed about the middle of September, and the drying of the fields known as nigar was over by the 20th to the 23rd September. Rain was then eagerly looked for, but none fell, and there has practically been none from the 7th of September until the 29th of November, when there was a fall of 0·52 inch at Arrah, and similar falls elsewhere. The consequence of the entire absence of rain during the Hathia and Chitra (25th of September to 21st of October) has been that all rice not artificially irrigated from aharas or canals has failed, and there was considerable difficulty with regard to sowing rabi crops, the soil throughout the greater part of the area commanded by the canals being so dry that the seed would not germinate without artificial irrigation. The demand for canal water from the 4th to the 24th of October was excessive, and a full supply was required until the end of the month; water being also taken nominally for rice, but in reality for khesari, linseed and such crops which are sown in the standing rice fields until the 10th of November.

RAINFALL.

(2). A statement of rainfall—the average of stations in each division being taken—is given below:—

		Eastern Sone Division.	Arrah Division.	Buxar Division.
		Three stations.	Five stations.	Four stations.
		Inches.	Inches.	Inches.
July	1888	15·89	15·80	12·76
August	„	17·59	15·95	15·35
September 1st to 20th	„	6·11	8·39	8·81
September 21st to 30th	„	Nil	·13	0·11
October	„	Nil	·05	0·10
November 1st to 10th	„	Nil	Nil	Nil
Year, 1st January to 10th November	...	43·39	43·60	41·31

This table does not sufficiently show the wide variations in the fall at different stations, and a more detailed statement is given as an appendix.

The normal yearly rainfall for the year for the area commanded by the Sone canals is 40·09 inches, so that the deficiency was rather at particular periods, when unfortunately it was most required, than for the year generally.

(3). The table following gives particulars regarding long or five-year leases :— LONG LEASES.

	Eastern Sone Division.	Arrah Division.	Buxar Division.	Total.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
I.—Leases which lapsed on the 31st March 1888 ...	7,485	7,530	15,701	30,716
II.—Leases in force on the 25th of June	32,639	94,803	51,678	179,120
III.—Leases applied for up to 1st July	8,511	6,060	8,581	23,152
IV.—Lease applications subsequently received ...	375	2 582	3,420	6.377
V.—Permits issued to end of November	2,998	4,356	4,993	12,347
VI.—Leases formally refused	3,852	954	768	5,574
VII.—Leases for which the application was withdrawn or in which objection to measurement was made ...	92	788	2,682	3,562
VIII.—Leases pending	1,944	2,745	5,528	10,217

Orders were given that preliminary applications for five years leases would not be taken after the 1st of July. Subsequently for special reasons selected applications were accepted. There was a general impression, especially in the Buxar Division, that the rate for five-year leases would be reduced, and the non-renewal of five years leases which lapsed was undoubtedly chiefly due to this cause. The good rainfall in July and August led the cultivators to believe that they were acting wisely in postponing the new leases for a year, and was the main cause of the withdrawal of applications; though village dissensions, objections to the proposed outlets, and other reasons had also some effect. The result has not been in accordance with their expectations, annual leases at higher rates have in many cases since been taken, and in the remainder the crop has mostly failed.

The causes for which leases were refused may be classified as follows :—

	Eastern Sone Division.	Arrah Division.	Buxar Division.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
I.—Want of proper channels	1,421	217	Details not given.
II.—Application presented too late to admit of lease being completed	50	131
III.—Block not suitable or under the prescribed minimum area	1,428	413
IV.—Lands high and difficult to irrigate or low down a distributary, and water not always available ...	838	50
V.—Other causes	115	143
Total ...	3,852	954	768

The conditions as to proper channels and compactness of block were more stringently enforced than heretofore, and permits also refused where there was any considerable proportion of high land necessitating irrigation by lift. No attempt was made to induce the people to renew their five-year leases or to enter into new ones. They were left to decide the question entirely on a consideration of their own interests, and applications were rigorously refused where the prescribed conditions were not fulfilled.

Leases are still pending for the reasons mentioned below :—

	Eastern Sone Division.	Arrah Division.	Buxar Division.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
I.—Application complete, but permit not yet issued or maps not furnished	509	1,846	544
II.—Application incomplete	1,103	311	3,136
III.—Boundaries not yet finally approved ...	286	234	.....
IV.—Disputed measurement	.....	.....	500
V.—Village channels defective	.....	230	231
VI.—Other causes	46	124	1,117

LANDS RENTED ON THE BHAOLI SYSTEM.

(4). There are special difficulties in obtaining long leases where lands are held on the bhaoli system, as the signatures of the proprietors who pay half the water-rates have to be obtained. The following are some of the cases noticed by Executive Engineers:—

EASTERN SONE DIVISION.

* * (55 acres).—Lands really nagdi, but incorrectly stated by the zemindars, 16 in number, to be bhaoli. All signatures obtained, including the proprietors', when there was a dispute amongst the proprietors, and the lease could not be completed. In four villages (377 acres) the ryots agreed, under Government orders No. 1724I of 2nd October 1888, to pay the zemindars' share of the rates as well as their own.

ARRAH DIVISION.

In five villages permits for 458 acres could not be given, as the zemindars refused to sign the leases.

BUXAR DIVISION.

* * Gave no written application, but frequently stated that they were prevented doing so by the proprietor. Irrigated without authority and also under annual lease.

* * Have taken an annual lease for 413 bighas, rice.

* * Have taken an annual lease undertaking to pay the whole of the rates.

* * Have taken an annual lease for a small area. Measurements for five-year lease complete, but porprietor declined to sign.

* * Have irrigated their fields without authority, and damaged adjoining lease by misappropriating water intended for it.

* * Crop has died.

* * Crop mostly dead.

* * Gave an application which was returned for the proprietor's signature. Irrigated some lands without authority; rest of the crop dead.

* * Application signed by the villagers, but not by the proprietor.

SHORT OR ANNUAL LEASES.

(5). The statement following shows the short or annual leases entered into month by month, as also the areas entered as irrigated in the patrol's registers :—

* Includes a large area subsequently leased for five years.

The leases in October and November were due to the failure of the Hathia rains, those in the latter month were to a considerable extent applications filed to cover areas irrigated without or in excess of permit.

(6). The area under irrigation during the kharif season, as measured by leases, stands as follows:—

	Five-year leases.	Annual kharif.	Annual sugar-cane.	Kharif rainfall, July to October.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Inches.
1888-89	192,339	66,537	3,148	39·08
1887-88	210,535	43,038	3,891	26·65
1886-87	194,351	27,733	5,402	49·40
1885-86	173,829	62,107	5,186	37·66

For former years the long leases include the area leased to the 31st March, so that the area of leases pending, 10,217 acres, the greater part of which will certainly be concluded, should be added to the figures for 1888-89.

In 1888-89 there was no rain during either the Hathia or Chitra, in fact not until the 29th of November; in 1887-88 the Hathia rains failed, but there was a good fall of rain in the Chitra on the 13th of October; in 1886-87 there was little need for artificial irrigation; in 1885-86 there was no rain after the 25th of September. Canal water was therefore beneficial three years out of four, and a necessity during two.

(7). The average daily discharge of the canals was as follows:—

	Main Eastern Canal.	Main Western Canal.	Arrah Canal System.	Baxar Canal System.
	Cubic feet per second.	Cubic feet per second.	Cubic feet per second.	Cubic feet per second.

IRRIGATION DURING THE HATHIA AND CHITRA.

(8). By the 26th September, the first day of the Hathia, the nigar, or drying the rice fields, was nearly everywhere completed, and a demand, slight at first, for water commenced, which increased in intensity early in October, and was at its height from the 10th to the 20th October; the demand for the last 11 days of the month was, however, very great, and during the first ten days of November water was taken to a limited extent for rice and largely for khesari, linseed, and such like crops which are sown in the standing paddy.

Piers Nos. 2 and 4 of the river sluices on the Dehri side of the Sone Weir had been carried away early in the season, and it was imperatively necessary to block these vents—an operation which could not be carried out until the discharge of the river was comparatively low. The opportunity occurred on the 1st of October, at midnight on that day the river was lowered, and the rubble bund completed by 3 P.M., on the 2nd. The supply was therefore partially shut off for less than 24 hours only. Throughout the whole time, when the demand was great, every shutter in the weir was closed, and the height of the water up stream kept at 9½ feet or 18 inches above its crest.

Special care had been taken to proportion the size of the outlets to the areas leased, and all outlets which did not command leased areas had been either blocked or removed. In the case of annual leases the same precautions with regard to the size of the outlets were observed, and permits refused except for well-defined blocks supplied by good channels. The object of these measures was to prevent unauthorized irrigation by not supplying more water than was requisite, and also to conserve the supply as far as possible, so that, should necessity occur, water might be given over as wide an area as possible.

The result as narrated by the Executive Engineer, Buxar Division, has been as follows:—

"As it turned out, the season was most unfavourable. The outlets were kept hard at work during the whole of October, and it is satisfactory to know that only in a few isolated cases was it necessary to slightly modify the areas of the outlets which had been given. At the beginning of the season the complaint was universal that irrigation would be impossible with the outlets provided. The cultivators were advised to give them a fair trial, and informed that if they could prove that they were actually two small, additional pipes would be given. The strain was as great as it is ever likely to be in any future year, and I think it may be safely assumed that no further alteration will be necessary."

The following table gives the daily discharge of the canals and the areas for which applications were received each day:—

	Main Eastern Canal.		Arrah Canal System.		Buxar Canal System.

The irrigation in the Arrah Division was altogether and in the other divisions partially on the tatil system, the distributaries being kept open for ten and closed for five days. The Executive Engineer, Arrah Division, observes:—"The tatil proved a complete success, and there is no doubt that at any rate in the Arrah Division, with a full supply in the distributary for ten consecutive days, the supply can be shut off for five without injury to the crops." It is worthy of notice that from the 16th to the 25th of October the average discharge of the Arrah Canal was 2,415 cubic feet per second, the discharge for which it was originally intended being 1,660 cubic feet per second only.

Every effort was made to distribute water as widely as possible after taking care that the five-year and other leases for which permits had been issued had received a sufficient supply. The measures taken are thus recounted by Mr. Barlow:—"The demand for water in the Chitra (9th to 21st of October) was very great, and special arrangements as to pipes and coolies had to be made to meet it. Suttahs (applications) were not allowed to be delayed by sectional officers, and a very small duty of from 50 to 100 bighas was taken for the irrigation of those villages that applied late and required water at once, though up to about the 12th October all outlets were fixed at a duty of not less than 100 bighas per cubic foot. The supply of water was very good, and the head of water above the outlet was kept up in almost every case as much as, and in most cases more than, was calculated in fixing outlets. About the middle of the Chitra (the 9th to 21st October) applications began to come in for broadcast rice and for rice that had received one watering from some ahara and tank." Before the end of the month applications were received for low-lying and krail lands, and the five-year leases had received two, and in some cases three, waterings, and had commenced to sow kesari and to water the fallow lands for ploughing the rabi crops. A few villages even took water for the first time in November with the view of benefiting what are known as paira crops.

All the applications received could not be granted, but no formality was permitted to stand in the way of issuing permits where they could be properly granted, and special efforts to deliver the water as quickly as possible.

VILLAGES WHICH COMPLAINED TO IRRIGATION COMMITTEE.

(9.) Many villages which were loud in their complaints before the Irrigation Committee of getting no advantage from canals applied for, and for the most part were allowed to receive, water. The fact is brought forward as showing that the statements made before the Irrigation Committe as to the sufficiency of the supply of canal water and the necessity for artificial irrigation are not altogether reliable. The supply in most cases has this year been reduced in strict proportion to the area to be irrigated, and where water has not been taken, the dhan crop has very generally failed. Unfortunately, in many cases, application was made so late that the crops have not benefited to the extent they otherwise would.

UNAUTHORIZED IRRIGATION.

(10.) The cases of unauthorized irrigation have been comparatively few. The size of the outlets have been proportioned to the area leased, and the practice involved considerable risk to the leased area. In the Eastern Sone Division 922 acres are reported to have been so irrigated. There were some bad cases in which the supply of water to five years leases was stopped by bunds being erected in the distributary. In two cases prosecutions have been instituted. In the Arrah Division there was little irrigation which is now technically unauthorized, as applications were submitted on the fact being discovered and permits issued. If rain had fallen, there would of course have been difficulties. In some cases a penalty rate would have been desirable; for instance, Nadhi (No. 18) was said never to require canal water; canal water was taken in an unauthorized manner, and on discovery an application for 43 bighas of rice filed and a permit issued on the 18th October, four days later the water had been taken beyond the leased area. In the case of Kurnol and Kunbali, where bunds were erected or the distributary banks cut, and the supply to leased areas interfered with, penalties will, if possible, be imposed. In the Buxar Division the area known to have been irrigated without permit is 425 acres 20 poles. In most cases applications have subsequently been filed, and were accepted, permits being issued. So far as is at present known, penalty rates will be inflicted in four cases only, viz., Lalgunj, Jaso, Gopalpur, and Gopnej. In the case last named the unauthorized irrigation, whilst in actual progress, was witnessed by the Collector and Chief Engineer, who had the advantage of hearing the ryots' reasons for resorting thereto. In these cases the supply to five-year leases was interfered with, and it is desirable that more than the usual rate should be charged.

CUTTING THE BANKS OF CANALS AND DISTRIBUTARIES.

(11.) The Patna Canal was cut in the Gya district on the night of the 8th of October to a depth of 2 feet below water line; the soil was fortunately firm, and the breach discovered quickly and filled up. The police and the Magistrate of Gya were at once communicated with, and a special force of police and chowkidars employed to guard the canal until the pressure subsided. If this cut had not been discovered in time, it is likely that upwards of 20,000 acres of rice would have died. The same canal was cut in three other places in the Patna district between the 5th and 9th of October, but these were of less importance. The Chowsa Canal was cut on the 9th of October, and the breach was filed up with commendable promptness by a contractor who resided near, the Assistant Engineer being also on the spot very soon after the cut was made. The Sub-divisional Magistrate, Mr. Garrett, arrived on the following day, and some arrests were made. The case is still under trial. The Bhojepore main distributary was cut on the night of the 22nd October, with the view of irrigating lands belonging to a neighbouring zemindar. Nine men were arrested, and the case is still under trial. There were eight cases of distributary bank cutting in the Eastern Sone, eight in the Arrah, and ten in the Buxar Division, and the distributaries were in numerous cases bunded. The Magistrates of Shahabad and Gya, in which districts these cases mostly occurred, gave every possible assistance; indeed, but for their active aid, it would not have been possible to prevent the water being made use of indiscriminately by the strongest parties. Every policeman in the Arrah reserve was detailed to assist in guarding the canals and distributaries

AREA INSUFFICIENTLY IRRIGATED.

(12.) The following is a somewhat detailed account of all cases in which it is known that leased areas did not receive a sufficient supply of water:—

Eastern Sone Division—		Five years' leases. Acres.	Annual leases. Acres.
I.—Leases at end of long distributaries .	...	86	184
II.—Land on high which water could not reach	...	77	6
III.—Failure due to breaches in distributaries	...	15	60

The Executive Engineer remarks—"The total area which failed from all causes was 428 acres; besides this a few acres of rice dried in small areas of one or two acres in different villages from various causes." A special report has been obtained on the failures in five-year leases, and permits will not in future be granted where there is real difficulty in supplying water. With regard to the annual leases the case is different; this year there was absolutely no rain after the fields had been dried. In three years out of four the rainfall at this time is deficient, but there is some rain, and it does not appear to be reasonable to refuse leases when there will be a sufficient supply of water, if there is any rain at all, say, 1 or 2 inches in October:—

Arrah Division—			Five-year. Acres.
I.—Leases at end of long distributaries	...	...	250
II.—Land high	...	...	25
IV.—Defective village channels ...	...	...	138
	Total	...	413

In addition to these, the crops on 512 acres at the end of the Koormori distributary have partially failed owing to the inhabitants of Kurnowl cutting the distributary and taking all the water for their own lands. It was not until the arrival of the police that water could be got beyond Kurnowl. I went to this place on the 15th October, when the demand was at its height, and offered to cancel the leases of the 512 acres mentioned above—an offer which was indignantly refused. An extra supply of water for this distributary was made available, and a considerable proportion of the crop saved. The persons to whose malpractices this failure of supply is due have, I am informed, filed a petition for remission of water-rates. In one case where the crop failed on 20 bighas, the application is endorsed by the applicants that water is only required in the rubbi season. It was known there would be a difficulty in the kharif. The lease will be cancelled.

Buxar Division.—There were three cases in which a portion of five years' leases did not receive sufficient water in proper time:—I. Bassera.—Water stopped by inhabitants of Gunsej who had no lease. II. Lalgunj.—Water stopped by inhabitants of Gopalpore who had no lease. III. Mednipur.—Some of the fields belonging to the poorer ryots did not receive water in consequence of its being obstructed by their more powerful neighbours

The following are cases in which there was a short supply to annual leases:—I. Udaipur.—Land high and water appropriated by other villages. II. Pareira.—The village channel passes through Chutur, the inhabitants of which stopped the water. Rice dead before information was given to the Sub-divisional Officer. III. Domraon.—200 bighas of rice was not irrigated in time owing to the sectional officer being sick, and to neither the villagers nor patrol informing the Sub-Divisional Officer. Water has been supplied for rubbi. IV. Harpur.—Water stopped by inhabitants of neighbouring village through which the channel passes. Water has with difficulty been supplied for rubbi. V. Karmani—Some fields did not receive water till late, when an extra pipe was given. Considerable unauthorized irrigation occurred in this village. VI. Dheokardi—. Applied late. Supply obstructed by neighbouring villages. Water supplied for rubbi. There were other villages where one or two fields did not receive water generally owing to private quarrels. The state of things in the Buxar Division is somewhat different from the other two. The canal was never running at full power, and it would, if applications had been made in time, have been possible to irrigate a considerable larger area. The Executive Engineer states that remissions of water-rates will be for an area not exceeding 100 acres.

STATE OF THE CROPS.

(13.) The state of the irrigated crops is, generally speaking, excellent; in many cases there will be a bumper—what is known as a 20-anna crop. The thoroughness with which the fields could be dried in the last ten days of September was all in favour of the five-year leases which were certain of a full supply of water when required. I enclose a report by Mr. H. Luson, C.S., on special duty, on the subject. During the time of greatest demand the canals in Shahabad were traversed by the Chief Engineer, Colonel Harrison, and the Collector, Mr. Power. There were hardly any complaints, and the crops appeared to be in general splendid. The yield of the crops over a limited area—a tract of land mostly in the Arrah Division, 5 miles long by about ½ a mile broad—has been seriously interfered with by hail, which fell on the 29th November, and which damaged many and actually thrashed a few fields. The persons whose fields have been injured are now engaged in resisting their measurement, claiming, on the ground mentioned above, exemption of right from water-rates.

NUMBER OF COMPLAINTS RECEIVED.

(14.) The following shows the complaints received regarding the current season's irrigation from the 1st of July to date:—

Division.	Short supply.	Water prevented from any cause reaching the fields	Others.	Total.
Eastern Sone	211	1	.....	212
Arrah	127	11	138	276
Buxar	21	5	684	710

The Executive Engineer of the Eastern Sone Division remarks that in all but 12 of the cases of complaint of short supply, action was taken in time to prevent damage to the crops. In the Arrah Division 23 applications for additional outlets have been treated as complaints of short supply. The Executive Engineer, Buxar Division, makes the following remarks regarding the complaints in that division:—"The total number of complaints received up to date is 710. The number may seem large, but it must be remembered that a separate receipt is now given to each individual who complains. In the Sikroul sub-division, where the number is largest, the complaints about cold-weather sugarcane alone came to 368, of which about 200 refer to failure of crops, and the remainder to non-irrigation. The total area in Sikroul is 1,414 acres, so that it seems questionable whether it is worth while granting sugarcane leases when they are productive of so many complaints. New sugarcane cultivation commences in December, and the clods are often irrigated illicitly from the adjoining rubbi lands. Application for leases is generally made in February, and ifhot* weather leases are not taken as well, dead crop is the result, with no pecuniary gain to Government except numerous complaints." The number of applications received during October and November, when the pressure for kharif irrigation occurred, is perhaps the best indication of the number of cases in which complaint was made regarding the rice irrigation. They were as follows:—Eastern Sone Division 91, Arrah Division 212, Buxar Division 213. In former years in a crisis of the kind numbers of complaints were received through civil officers. This year there were scarcely any. It is, I may fairly say, generally admitted

*1st April to 25th June

throughout the districts affected that the efforts of the canal officers to supply water in proper time, and sufficient quantity wherever permits had been granted, was successful, and that even where application was made late in the day, a supply was in very many cases made available.

Services of officers

(15.) The Executive Engineers, one and all, bring to notice the efforts made by the Sub-divisional Officers to visit every part of their charges, and the energy, patience and skill displayed by them in the distribution arrangements. It is my duty to say that I consider that both Executive Engineers and Sub-divisional Officers deserve the highest praise for their untiring and successful exertions to meet the demands made on them. Amongst the Sub-divisional Officers are one European and three native upper subordinates, who have proved equal to positions of—for their classes—unusual responsibility. Where all have done so well it is almost invidious to single out special officers; but I consider that Mr. W. A Inglis, the Executive Engineer of the largest irrigation division, and Mr. H. Barlow, who is in charge of the largest and most turbulent sub-division, should be specially mentioned. The sickness amongst the staff added greatly to the labours and difficulties experienced. One section changed hands four times, and more than half the staff were laid up at one time or other. Substitutes, even inefficient, could not be procured at short notice, and the work of the sectional officers devolved on the Executive Engineers and Sub-divisional Officers.

Dated Arrah, the 5th December 1888.

From—HEWLING LUSON, Esq., C.S., on special duty, Public Works Department,
To—The Superintending Engineer, Sone Circle.

IN accordance with paragraph 2 of your letter No. 4315 of the 26th October 1888, communicating to me the points upon which enquiry is required by the Government of Bengal, I have the honour to submit the following preliminary report upon the state of the rice crop in the area irrigated by the Sone Canals.

Since the date of the receipt of your letter above referred to, I have been constantly on tour through the canal country in the districts of Shahabad, Patna and Gya. I have visited all the places suggested by you, and have inspected on the fields the rice of 226 five-year leased areas and 190 annual leases, representing nearly a half of the whole irrigated area.

I have carefully noted the best crops irrigated under the most favourable circumstances of soil, situation and cultivation, and have compared all inferior crops with them. I estimate that, if 20 annas be taken to represent the very best crop that could possibly have been raised upon the area under irrigation this year, or, in other words the maximum of excellence obtainable, then the general average throughout the whole circle will very nearly reach 16 annas These figures do not pretend to be more than fairly accurate, as they are not founded upon exhaustive enquiry; but as they are taken from notes made from village to village visited, they may be considered as representing the state of all the rice under irrigation this season.

As directed, I have noted the cases in which the crops has failed or has fallen below the average, and have endeavoured to ascertain the causes. This task has been rendered easier by the existence of the following circumstances:—(1) the total failure of the Hathia rain, so that, as canal irrigation received no assistance from the usual rain, whatever deficiency there was in the supply of water is easily detected; (2) the universal freedom of the rice crops from blight, so that failure from other causes cannot possibly be ascribed to this.

Before setting forth the various causes of failure or inferiority of the crops, it is necessary to observe that the rice cultivation of South Behar is conducted religiously according to asterisms (nachattes), calculated from the phases of the moon. The seed beds throughout the country are, if possible, sown within a period of 15 days, called the adra nachattra, which this year included the 20th June and the 3rd July. Transplantation from the seed beds goes on during the Punerbas Pukh and Asraisa Nachattra (18th July—15th August). The water on the fields in which the young plant has grown up after transplantation is regularly drained off in the Uttra Nachattra (12th—25th September), a period when, as a rule, there is little rain, and after the exposure of the soil to the air and sun, the usual heavy rain of the next Nachattra, the Hathia, is awaited.

Although there are sometimes slight variations in the times of sowing and transplanting from those given above, owing to various circumstances, yet the cultivators are extremely strict in draining off the water from the fields in the Utra Nachatra. It may be said that every cultivator begins, if he possibly can, to let off the water on the 1st day of the Utra Nachattra, and this is done, without any hesitation, in the country commanded by the canals, because the cultivator looks to the Irrigation authorities to supply him with water, whether the Hathia rain fails entirely or not.

It is generally agreed that after this draining or nigar rice plants cannot exist for more than from 15 to 20 days according to the soil, unless watered, without rapid deterioration, and as no ryot will under any circumstances take water till the Hathia Nachattra has commenced, the Canal Department is called upon to irrigate within a very few days every acre under lease. If water is delayed a week after it is wanted at this stage, the crop suffers; if it is delayed three weeks, it withers beyond redemption. This is the critical period It is obvious that it is necessary to have ready a full supply of water, and to use the greatest skill in distributing it.

During my tour I have generally observed that the fields adjoining the large canal and the upper reaches of the distributries obtained a sufficient and timely supply of water, but those towards the tails of some of the distributaries had evidently had to wait. In almost every case where there has been failure (except on high land for which leases should not have been accepted) it has been on the leases furthest down the distributaries. The causes of this seem to me preventible, and to require the most careful adjustment of the outlets from the distributaries into the village channels. In several cases I found the total capacities of the outlets greater than the capacity of the distributary, so that when the distributary is running at full supply and all the outlets are open, water cannot possibly get down to the tail, and the leased areas low down have to wait until these above are satisfied, a delay which may mean the loss of the crop. In some other cases I found the outlets at the head of the distributary much too large, so that while water was flowing through them beyond the leased areas and consequent wastage and unauthorized irrigation was going on, the areas in lease lower down were without water at the most critical time. In most years there is some rain in the Hathia Nachattra, and the immediate demand for water for every lease at the same time is not so great, but in a year like the present one, when the rain gives no assistance, any deficiency in the regulation of the outlets becomes clearly apparent. It is right to say that the correction of the outlets is now perfectly appreciated by all officers, and that much improvement has lately been made.

The next most important cause of the crop falling in places below the average is the delay in the case of annual leases (or as they should be called crop leases) in the applications for water. The ryots hold off to the very last moment in hopes of rain, and only come in when the supplies of the ahras or catchment bunds have dried up. Crops for which water was applied for so late, that it could not be supplied to do any practical benefit, I have left out of consideration entirely, as many such have been irrigated only for the sake of the khesari or second crop sown with the rice.

Another chief cause of variation in the crop is the deficiency of the majority of the village channels which take the water from the distributaries to the fields Some very good channels made by the Irrigation Department, or by enterprising landlords exist, but the greater part of those which are supposed to be made and kept in repair by the villagers are extremely bad and lead to much wastage and consequent unauthorised irrigation, and so prevent the fields on the further edges of the leased areas from obtaining a sufficient supply in time. The special report called for on the subject will be submitted at a later date.

Another reason for the inferiority of some fields is the unscrupulousness of the stronger cultivators. When there is likely to be a deficiency of water, or when it is very urgently wanted, the stronger take it first, whilst the weaker have to wait and perhaps go without. In several cases I found the big men had taken two waterings, while the weakers' crops were dying. This of course is hard for the canal officers to prevent, but it exists to a much less extent than under the ahra system, where the maliks, and the Brahmins' and Rajputs' fields, which are generally situated near the reservoirs, are always watered, but the low caste men's only if there is a sufficiency.

Again, in some places the cultivators have put up embankments in the distributaries to obtain a greater head of water for themselves to the injury of the areas to be irrigated lower down. As these bunds are frequently erected at night, it is difficult to remove them until after some damage has been caused. Similarly in several places distributaries have been wilfully cut by the villagers, and in one case a large area below one of such cuts has lost its entire crop.

There are a number of other circumstances preventing the outturn from reaching what it might, but these are entirely beyond the control of the canal officers, such as bad cultivation, which is often owing to the sickness of the cultivator, late transplantation, and the sowing of crops in seed beds

Notwithstanding all the circumstances detailed as having affected the crop, which from paragraph 3 it will be seen, I think, reduces it a little more than 20 per cent. from what it could possibly have been, the rice this year, as I have seen it, has reached on the average a high standard of excellence, and stands out in very bright contrast with the sad picture of the almost total failure of the crop which depended upon rain water alone, or rain water stored in ahras with small local catchment basins.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, DURING THE MONTH OF DECEMBER 1888.

THE normal meteorology in December of Bengal and Assam is usually very simple, and the north-east monsoon conditions are always present in a well-marked degree Temperature generally steadily diminishes, and is decidedly low, while pressure increases and becomes very high; humidity remains low, and there is an almost complete absence of cloud. Rainfall is also usually entirely absent from the province, except when the normal conditions become almost reversed by the occurrence of barometric disturbances which appear over Northern India, and drift in a southerly or south-easterly direction. When such depressions pass through the province, the sky becomes heavily clouded, temperature usually increases, particularly at night, while pressure falls with the advance of the depression. If the depression is at all considerable, general light rain will also usually fall. It is from such actions as these that practically the whole of the rainfall of December in Bengal is received, and from the nature of the case the occurrence of any rainfall at all in this month is uncertain, while its amount is always liable to considerable variation. A second class of disturbances sometimes occur in the form of cyclonic storms in the Bay; but usually in December such storms are generated in the extreme south of the Bay, and they are rarely sufficiently large and intense to affect the weather in Bengal to any considerable extent.

The average rainfall in Bengal is therefore small in all districts; it is slightly over half an inch in Orissa, about equal to a third of an inch in Chutia Nagpur and East Bengal, and to about a fifth of an inch in South-West Bengal and South Behar; while in North Bengal and North Behar the average fall is even less than a fifth of an inch.

Meteorology of the month.—The chief features in the meteorology of December have been—

1. Slight excess pressure over the province of Bengal, the mean excess equalling about 0·02 inch, the excess being usually largest in the northern districts, and smallest in the centre of the province; while in the upper layers of the atmosphere, as represented by Darjeeling, pressure has been in slight defect. In Assam, pressure has been nearly normal.

2 A mean temperature distinctly below the normal; the defect ranging up to nearly 2° in North Behar, and averaging 0·8° over the entire province. In Assam, also, temperature has been slightly below the normal.

3. Decided dryness of the air, the humidity being about 8 per cent. below the normal.

4. Cloud proportion also decidedly below the normal.

5. A complete absence of barometric depressions entering the province from Northern India; but though no depression of this kind entered the province in December, yet at the latter end of November disturbed conditions had been brought to Bengal by one of these depressions, and the effects of the disturbance had not quite passed away at the beginning of December.

6. A cyclonic storm of small extent, but of very considerable intensity, was formed in the south of the Bay, and advancing in a westerly direction struck the South Madras coast on the 14th of December near Negapatam. It, however, scarcely affected the weather in Bengal.

7. Except for a few local showers during the first two or three days of the month, brought about by the disturbance previously mentioned as having passed into the province at the latter end of November, the whole province has been rainless throughout the month.

With the exception of a few slight local showers, the disturbance, which was passing away from the province at the end of November, had ceased to affect the weather, and with a falling thermometer and rapidly diminishing humidity, normal cold weather conditions returned. The mean pressure was slightly in excess in the early part of the month, but though very small changes occurred, the excess disappeared, and during the second week the pressure became almost normal. Very high pressures were afterwards reported by the western stations, and though a small depression formed in South-East Bengal, over Dacca, the mean pressure again became in excess. This was owing to the wave of high pressure which was passing over Central and North-Western India, extending over part of Bengal. The weather in Bengal was very slightly affected by the cyclonic storm off the South Madras coast which occurred at the end of the second week of December. A few clouds appeared in South Bengal and Orissa, but north-east winds continued. The low temperature that came in with the return of the north-easterly winds at the beginning of December, continued throughout the month, a considerable defect being experienced in the first half. This gradually disappeared, and by the end of the month there was a small excess above the normal. With the exception of the few showers at the beginning of the month, and the light clouds occurring at the time of the Madras cyclonic storm, fine clear weather of the ordinary north-east monsoon character with low temperature and humidity has prevailed throughout the whole month.

Pressure.—Pressure changes have been small and unimportant during the whole month, the general tendency being to excess above the normal. A slight fall occurred in the early part of the month, but the mean for the province was 0·04 inch in excess, the largest excess being 0·062 inch at Durbhunga. Though no important changes took place, the pressure was very nearly normal from the 8th to the 15th, when there was a distinct rise, after which pressure remained in excess till the end of the month. The most decided change was on the 27th and 28th, when the barometer in some places fell almost a tenth of an inch. Thus the mean for the month shows a slight excess equal to about 0·02 inch. Apart from the usual cold weather oscillations, the only changes have been a slight fall in the early part of the month, a distinct rise on the 15th, and a fall on the 27th and 28th. The only instances of defect were during the second week, when pressure at about half the stations was below normal.

Temperature.—The most notable feature of the month's meteorology has been the low temperature. The decidedly low temperature, which set in on the 2nd and 3rd, continued till the end of the third week. In the early part of the month, the mean for the whole province was 1·3° in defect, the largest defect being 3·6° in North Behar. During the second week the defects increased, and in several districts amounted to more than 4°. For the whole province the defect was about 3°. After that a general small rise began, and by the 20th the temperatures were slightly in excess at most of the stations. This excess remained, and to a small extent intensified towards the end of the month, but during the last few days a defect again became prevalent. The largest excess of over 2° was at Patna and Darjeeling. The monthly mean shows considerable defect.

The general variation of temperature from the normal during the month is best shown by the following table, which gives the variations of the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts in the province from the normal values, week by week, throughout the month:—

Rainfall.—Except for a few local showers at the commencement of the month, rainfall has been practically absent. The only districts which have received any falls worth mentioning are Bankoora, Moorshedabad, Bogra, Pubna, and Sonthal Pergunnahs, though small amounts also fell in Maldah, Bhagulpore, and Manbhoom. The largest average fall, however, was only 0·16 inch in Bankoora district.

The following table gives in a condensed form the summary of the rainfall information in Bengal for the whole year. It gives a comparison between the actual monthly and total rainfall of the year, with the normal values in each of the seven meteorological divisions of Bengal; the actual falls being expressed as percentages of the normal amounts. From these figures it will be seen that the only districts which have received a normal fall for the year are South Behar, South-West Bengal and East Bengal:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·3° lower; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

* Means of 6 days.

Explanations.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 24 stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 4th of January 1889.

Calcutta, the 8th January 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 4TH OF JANUARY 1889.

At the commencement of the present week conditions were of ordinary north-east monsoon character in Bengal, and nearly normal for the season, though pressure was somewhat in defect on the Arakan coast and at the eastern stations, thus giving a somewhat westerly set to the winds at the stations in the south of the province and over the northern half of the Bay. This defective pressure at the eastern stations generally continued for some days, and up till the 1st of January the pressure variations were small and of rather irregular amounts; but from the 1st to the 2nd a brisk increase of pressure took place, which by the morning of the 3rd had caused pressure generally to become somewhat above the normal. In the middle of the week also there was a general reduction of temperature, this reduction being apparently part of a general wave of low temperature which passed from Northern India over Bengal. Humidity has also been fairly low throughout the week, and the sky has been almost absolutely free from cloud, while no rain has fallen; so that conditions have been of a strongly pronounced cold weather character throughout the week.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week, owing to the comparatively low pressure prevailing during the greater part of it, has been distinctly below the normal, but the variations at neighbouring stations are a little irregular. Generally speaking, the variations from the normal do not exceed 0·02 inch or 0·03 inch.

Temperature—Has fallen decidedly during the week, and the average mean temperature of the whole of the province is about 1·5° lower than that of the previous week; while in South-West, East and North Bengal, the general decrease of temperature has equalled from two to nearly three degrees. This reduction of temperature has been particularly marked in the night temperatures, and some very low minimum temperatures have been recorded. Thus temperatures of about 43° to 44° have during the week been recorded at Krishnagur, Rampore Beauleah, Maldah, Arrah, Doomka, and Ranchi, while at Motihari a temperature of 40·0° was reported on the night of the 1st. At Calcutta the lowest minimum temperature recorded was 48·8°. For the whole province the defect in the mean temperature from the normal has equalled nearly 1°.

The general range of temperature during the week is shown in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temparatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are given compared with the normal values for the same period. At these stations the mean night or minimum temperature has been more than two degrees below the normal, while the day or maximum temperature has been about a tenth of a degree in excess of the normal:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

Births and deaths were registered in the principal Municipalities in Bengal during the week ending 15th December 1888, at the rates, respectively, of 25·7 and 29 8 per 1,000 of population, against 27· and 35 5 per 1,000, during the preceding week ending 8th December, indicating a large reduction in the registration of both events, particularly in the registration of deaths.

2. In the following Municipalities births and deaths were recorded at the highest rates:—

4. Of the diseases specified above, excluding injury, the casualties from which were nowhere noticeably large, and small-pox which appears to have prevailed noticeably in the Gya town, attended with three deaths, the other diseases caused the highest mortality in the following Municipalities:—

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during the month ended 24th November 1888.

INCREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was an increase in both the upward and downward despatches—that in the former was nominal, and the latter was due to a good demand in Calcutta for local consumption and shipment.

Cotton.—The small increase under this head was due to despatches from Firozabad, Hathras, Kurja and Gaziabad to Howrah and Bombay.

Piece-goods, European.—This increase was chiefly in the despatches from Howrah to Cawnpore and Delhi, owing to improved demand at those places.

Jute, raw.—This was principally in the despatches from Sahebgunge, from the Assam-Behar State Railway vid Sahebgunge, and from the Eastern Bengal State Railway vid Naihati to Howrah.

Wheat.—Due to demand in Calcutta for export.

Gram and pulses.—There was a decrease in the weight carried and an increase in the earnings, due to smaller despatches from Behar, and increases in long distance traffic from the North-West to Howrah to meet requirements on the east coast, where a famine was impending.

Government stores.—The increase was chiefly in the despatches of ammunition from Howrah to Agra, Firozepur and Quetta; and military baggage from Jubbulpore to Mooltan.

Oil.—Chiefly in kerosine oil from Howrah.

Railway material, Foreign.—There was a decrease in weight carried and an increase in earnings—the former was due to heavy despatches last year vid Jubbulpore, and the latter was in despatches from Howrah to Asansol and Katni for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

DECREASES.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—There was an increase in weight carried, attended with a decrease in earnings; the former was in short distance despatches on the Howrah district, and the latter was in long lead despatches from the R. district station to stations on the North-West Provinces last year.

Indigo.—Due to a late season.

Gunny.—Due to fall in export seed traffic and to the late cotton season.

Fruits, other kinds.—Chiefly in betelnuts from Digha Ghât, where a large quantity was brought up last year by steamers and rebooked thence.

Other grain.—This was chiefly at stations on the Dinapore district, and was due to prices obtained locally being sufficiently remunerative.

Hides.—The decrease in this article was in despatches from Digha Ghât and Delhi, and is attributable to there being no demand in the Calcutta market.

Brass and copper.—Due to high rates being still maintained.

Opium.—This decrease is attributable to a late season.

Ghee.—A limited demand in the Calcutta market is the cause of the falling off in this staple.

Salt.—This decrease was chiefly due to despatches from Howrah to Patna owing to steamer competition.

Seeds.—Chiefly in linseed due to demand from Europe having fallen very considerably.

Sugar (refined and unrefined).—The decrease was in despatches from the Shahabad district due to the sugarcane crop being late owing to unseasonable rain.

Tobacco.—This was chiefly in despatches from the Tirhoot State Railway vid Mokameh Ghât.

Potatoes.—This was principally in despatches from the Dinapore district, owing to supplies locally having been much greater this season.

To—The Secretary to the Government of India.

I AM directed by His Excellency the Hon'ble Arthur H. PEARL FISHERY OF 1889.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Pearl Fishery will take place at Dutch Bay, in the Island of Ceylon, on or about 10th February 1889. The bank to be fished is the Muttuwartu Paar, in 5 to 7 fathoms water, estimated to contain oysters sufficient to employ 100 boats for 30 days with average loads of 10,000 oysters each per day.

It is therefore necessary that such boat owners and divers as may wish to be employed at the said fishery should be at Dutch Bay on or before 6th February next; and it is notified that the first day's fishing will take place on or about 10th February, if possible.

The fishery will be conducted on account of Government, and the oysters put up to sale in such lots as may be deemed expedient.

The arrangements of the fishery will be the same as have been usual on similar occasions.

All payment to be made in ready money in Ceylon currency.

Drafts on the banks in Colombo or bills on the Agents of this Government in India, at ten days' sight, will be taken, on letters of credit being produced to warrant the drawing of such drafts or bills.

For the convenience of purchasers, the Treasurer at Colombo and the different Government Agents of Provinces will be authorised to receive cash deposits from parties intending to become purchasers, and receipts of these officers will be taken in payment of any sums due on account of the fishery.

No deposit will be received for a less sum than Rs. 250.

WITHDRAWAL OF THE INLAND EMIGRATION ACT FROM THE DISTRICTS OF CHITTAGONG AND THE CHITTAGONG HILL TRACTS.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT - INLAND EMIGRATION.

Calcutta, the 8th January 1889.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The following correspondence on the subject of the proposed withdrawal of the districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts from the operation of the Inland Emigration Act No. I of 1882:—

Letter from the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, No. 767GM—IX-5, dated 13th August 1888.

Letter to the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, No. 95T—G, dated 18th October 1888.

Letter from the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, dated 31st October 1888.

Letter from the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, No. 1098, dated 9th November 1888.

Letter to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, No. 186, dated 3rd December 1888.

Letter from the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department No. 234—26-24E., dated 21st December 1888.

The special procedure provided by Act I of 1882 for enforcing labour contracts in certain specified areas is in force, as far as the Lower Provinces are concerned, only in the districts of Cuttagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts. The Commissioner of Chittagong has frequently urged their withdrawal as not required in his division; and in reviewing the departmental report for the year 1885, Sir Rivers Thompson so far accepted this view as to express a hope that the time was approaching when, considering the falling off in the number of labourers enrolled under the Act, it would be possible to adopt the course recommended. As the results of the following year showed a further decline, Sir Steuart Bayley called for a special report on the subject, which the Commissioner has since submitted. In this communication it is stated that such planters as had been consulted are unanimous in considering that the Act is not required, the ordinary law being sufficient to guard the interests both of employers and employed. This is the view of the District Officers also, and the Commissioner gives his own opinion as follows:—

"It is not adapted to a district where labour is as plentiful as it is here, and where there is, now at least, no objection to taking work on a garden. So far as I have seen, the Act here is entirely against the interests of the cooly and of the better class of planters, while it is favourable to the worst class of planters only. Happily this last class is so small that it may be said to be non-existent. I strongly recommend, therefore, that under the provisions of section 4, the Inland Emigration Act be withdrawn entirely from the districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts."

2. In deciding whether the recommendation thus forcibly expressed by the local officers should be accepted, the Lieutenant-Governor has to give due weight to the consideration that the Government of India has repeatedly indicated for adoption the policy of dispensing with special legislation on the subject of labour contracts wherever it is possible to do so, leaving the matter to the operation of the ordinary law of the country. "Such legislation," the Secretary of State observed in a despatch No. 102, dated 4th November 1886, "should be considered as temporary only, and clearly ought not to be maintained longer than is absolutely necessary for the protection of both the classes concerned." Viewed from this standpoint, it seems clear that the retention of the system in the two districts referred to scarcely admits of defence. In the Hill Tracts the Act cannot be said to be necessary, as it is not now resorted to even in the case of a single labourer. In Chittagong the number of labourers placed under contract according to the provisions of the Act was never large, and has rapidly decreased in recent years: it was 915 in 1884 and had fallen to 433 in 1887, with the prospect of a further decrease in the immediate future. There is nothing in the condition of the tea industry in Chittagong to suggest that it should be placed under an exceptional system, different from that prevailing in the rest of the province, and particularly in the districts of Darjeeling and Julpigoree, which are now the chief seats of the cultivation of the tea plant. Chittagong is more densely populated than other tea districts in Bengal, local labour is more generally used, and the importation of coolies is resorted to only on a very minute scale. The maintenance of the statutory contract system cannot, therefore, be looked upon as really a necessity in that district, and there is even reason to believe that, so far as it has any effect at all, it is rather a hindrance than an aid to the progress of tea cultivation. It certainly has not effected the object which the late Commissioner of Chittagong had in view when recommending its introduction in the year 1877—that of modifying the system of task work in the interest of the labourer.

3. The Inland Emigration Act leaves to the Local Government, with the previous consent of the Government of India, the power of altering from time to time the area within which the law is in force. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that this power should now be exercised, and accordingly issues the appended notification with the approval of the Governor-General in Council. The Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs to Government has advised that this measure will not affect existing contracts otherwise than by putting an end to the exceptional procedure by which they are at present enforced, leaving them in operation as ordinary engagements within the cognizance of the civil courts.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the notification be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, with reference to the correspondence ending with his letter No. $\frac{787 G.M.}{IX-6}$, dated 13th August 1888, for information, and for favour of communication to the Inspectors of Labourers and Managers of tea-gardens.

Ordered also, that a copy of the Resolution and of the notification be forwarded to the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Dated Calcutta, the 8th January 1889.

NOTIFICATION—By the Government of Bengal, General Department.

UNDER section 4 of the Inland Emigration Act I of 1882, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, is pleased to declare that, on and from the 1st April 1889, the labour-districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts shall cease to be subject to the provisions of the said Act by which they are declared to be labour-districts, and to all the provisions of the Act applicable only to labour-districts.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON PUBLIC INSTRUCTION IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1887-88.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 11th January 1889.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Report on Public Instruction in Bengal for 1887-88.

This report is exceptionally complete and clear, but the Lieutenant-Governor regrets that it is necessary in reviewing it to notice in the first instance the delay which has occurred in its preparation. The date fixed by Government as the latest for the submission of the annual reports of the Director of Public Instruction was originally the 1st of August, and Sir Alfred Croft proposed during the year that it should be postponed to the 1st of October. The present report was not, however, received until the 17th December, and no explanation has been given of the great delay thus indicated. The Director's attention will be drawn again to this important subject, and he will be requested to make arrangements which will secure the submission of the next annual report before the 1st October, 1889, or on that day at latest.

Delay in submitting the report.

2. The most important event in the educational history of the year under this head was the transfer of the control of primary education from District Magistrates, acting under the advice of Local Committees, to District Boards. On this subject the Director observes—

Controlling agencies.

As to the general character of the work done by the District and Local Boards, it is too early yet to form any decided opinion It was natural to suppose that at the outset they would take no very strong or independent line, but simply conform to the traditions and practices of the Department to whose duties they succeeded. It appears, however, that the Boards have not followed a uniform policy in educational matters. The Assistant Inspector of the Bhagulpore Division writes of them:—"During the short time they have been at work, there has been not a single instance of any friction between them and the Department; the suggestions and recommendations of the inspecting officers have been always duly considered and adopted, and the Inspector of Schools has been often consulted in important matters." Still, some inconvenience has been felt from delay in the despatch of business by the Boards. In the neighbouring division of Patna a less confident note is heard. In the districts of Patna and Sarun, there have been no particular changes, and the working of the Board has been satisfactory. Of Gya it is said that "the Board has done nothing in connection with education that would look like its own work." But of Shahabad—"it is a fact that the Shahabad District Board has not worked smoothly with the Department."

In the few differences that I have had with District Boards, I have found that on a candid representation of the facts the causes of difference have in every case disappeared. When more serious difficulties have arisen, and some form of arrangement or compromise was desirable, it has been readily accepted When the Boards were, one after another, coming into existence and assuming charge of their duties, I sometimes found it necessary at the outset to trench upon the province of the Boards, and to take action which I had ceased to have the right to take, in order to avoid obstructive delay and to hand over the business of administration as a going concern in working order. In no case has a Board finally refused to confirm the action taken. On a general review of the causes of friction that have arisen here and there, I should be disposed to say that while Boards are grateful for advice and suggestions when asked for, and even when not asked for if given with an obviously helpful purpose, they resent interference with the duties that have been entrusted to them. In saying this, I do not wish to utter one word of complaint against any departmental officer. It is only natural that officers who have hitherto had the work of education in their own hands should still take a keen interest in its progress, and should seek to avert any lapse from the standard to which they have been accustomed, even though such lapses are inevitable incidents of a change of system. But it is no less necessary for departmental officers to remember that District Boards have rights secured to them under the Act, and that any attempt to limit those rights in the interests of education will certainly be resisted. It may be assumed that officers of the Department know for the present a good deal more about school management than a District Board knows. They can best utilise their knowledge in the interests of education by adopting towards the Board such an attitude of friendly vigilance as will make it clear that, while always ready to render help when help is desired or is necessary, it is equally their wish that the Board should learn how to do for itself, and to do well, the work which has been entrusted to its hands. I am glad to be able to state that this is the attitude which officers of the Department have almost uniformly taken up.

The view taken by the Director appears very judicious, and its expressions calculated to conduce to the harmonious working of the department. It may be added that some of the officers whose views are quoted seem to have an erroneous conception of the system which has been superseded by the management of Boards. Primary education since its introduction has never been placed under the control of departmental Inspectors, but of Magistrates and local Committees. In one of the districts referred to as administered by a Board in an independent spirit, it is within the Lieutenant-Governor's knowledge that this is nothing new, the former Education Committee having shewn even more decided indications of a determination to promote the cause of popular education in its own way.

3. Two vacancies which occurred during the year in the superior inspecting staff were not filled up, the retrenchment being made in accordance with a recommendation of the Finance Committee, provisionally adopted by this Government, that the number of such officers should be reduced to nine, so as to correspond with that of Divisional Commissioners. The officers whose work has in this manner been increased by enlarging their jurisdiction report unfavourably of the arrangement, as was perhaps to have been expected. But, apart from obvious considerations of economy, it seems desirable to make the jurisdiction of Educational officers coincide with the administrative divisions of the country, and nothing has occurred during the year to alter the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion as to the expediency of the retrenchment proposed. The Director has very properly noticed the degree of activity shown by different inspecting officers, commending those who have done best, and dealing in different ways with those who have failed Such disciplinary action is particularly necessary, since the travelling allowance drawn for journeys of less than 20 miles has been curtailed on financial grounds, and the Director plainly indicates that tours have often been conducted inefficiently in order to secure the higher rate now given in the case of long journeys, or, as it is otherwise put, to avoid loss. The amendment of the rule which has been the occasion of this difficulty is now under consideration, a reference having been made to the Government of India; but, pending the issue of orders on this subject, the defect noticed by the Director may be remedied by calling upon Sub-Inspectors to submit beforehand programmes of their tours, which will then be regulated by their immediate superiors in the best interests of the schools to be visited. The Director will be requested to report upon the above suggestion.

University Education.

4. The history of higher instruction during the year is marked by three striking features—the foundation of new colleges, the increased attendance of pupils, and the development of private enterprise, which at first supplemented, and now rivals the efforts of the State in promoting this form of education. The new colleges are four in number—the Bangabasi, founded by Mr. G. C. Bose, M.A., F.C.S., a returned Agricultural Scholar, which had 53 students at the close of the year; the Roberts' Memorial College, with 3 students only; the Tej Narain Jubilee College at Bhagulpore, with 17 students; and the collegiate classes added by the late Baboo Joy Kissen Mookerjea to the Utterpara School, with 29 students. All these are private institutions, founded and kept up without direct aid from the State, and their establishment raises the number of colleges in Bengal to 33, of which only one-third are maintained by Government. The increase in the attendance is shown in the following statement :—

Some annual addition to the number of students is to be expected as the natural result of the gradual progress of the educated classes in Bengal. The fact that the increase was unusually large this year is, as the Director remarks, explained by the results of the Entrance examination of 1887, at which 2,409 competitors were successful, or 69 per cent. of the candidates, against 913, or 29 per cent. in the previous year; and it is understood that this success was itself due to an alteration in the system of examination designed to facilitate admission to the University, the number of marks required for success being reduced from 38 to 30 per cent. in English, and from 33 to 25 per cent. in the second language and mathematics, while the aggregate minimum of 33 per cent. was not insisted on. The development of private enterprise, referred to above, as the third feature of college administration during the year, is illustrated by the fact that the increase has been greatest in the unaided colleges, both absolutely and also in proportion to their previous attendance. With the figures showing the numerical strength of the several classes of institutions, the following statement should be considered, as it indicates their efficiency, ascertained by the only test readily applicable, that of success at public examinations—

Class of College.	Number of students.	Number of students passed at examinations in 1887-88.
		F. A.	F. A. Scholarship.	B. A.	B. A. Honours.	M. A.
State	1,383	183	26	68	43	27
Private	3,111	287	23	152	42	13

It will be seen that the Government colleges, with reference to the number of their pupils, obtained more than their share of degrees of all kinds, and that the proportion in their favour was larger as the examinations progressed in difficulty. This is most marked in the M. A. course, and is there entirely due to the superior instruction given in the Presidency College, a most useful and necessary institution, which maintains by its example, as well as by direct support, the standard of education in the province. The Director's observations on this subject are in entire accordance with the views entertained by Government. He writes: "The Presidency College, with its high fee of Rs. 12 a month, has nearly doubled its numbers of two years back; and indeed in July, 1888, four months after the close of the year, the number on its rolls exceeded 500, a greater strength than it has ever before known. The demands made by the various courses of the University upon a limited educational staff have much increased of late years; and if, in accordance with the present policy, the strength of the Presidency College professoriate be maintained at such a level as to meet all requirements, the foregoing figures show that students will flock to its classrooms in such numbers as to more than repay the additional cost involved. The Presidency College must maintain its position among the colleges of Bengal as that in which the best and most varied education is given, realising as far as possible the idea of a 'teaching University.' That end must be secured even though, in order to attain it, we have to weaken the staff of some of the less important Government colleges in the province. Moreover, the rapid up-springing of private colleges throughout Bengal affords a clear proof that collegiate education to a moderate standard no longer demands the sustaining arm of Government as the necessary condition of its existence; and the policy to which I have adverted will render the gradual transition from Government control to private management a natural and easy process of development." The Presidency College is also the principal institution in which scientific knowledge is fostered, a very important consideration, as it appears that the science course is losing its popularity, and that higher education in Bengal is taking a character too exclusively literary. It has long been the policy of Government to give a practical bent to instruction, and yet, whether from the effect of the system on which University examinations are conducted, or owing to the predilections of the students themselves, the actual tendency is in the contrary direction. It is stated that of 51 senior scholars elected in 1888, only 21 chose the science course, which in former years was adopted by the great majority, and only 78 candidates passed by that standard, against 245 by the literary course. Even in the minor Government Colleges, where until lately the science course only was taught, it is now to a great extent superseded by the more popular form of instruction. The Krishnager Municipality was asked during the year to take over the Government College at that station, with a grant-in-aid, and the offer was declined. The Lieutenant-Governor can hardly view with regret the delay which has occurred in giving full effect to the policy recommended by the Education Commission, that of the gradual and cautious withdrawal of the State from the direct management of the minor colleges, as private institutions become year by year more equal to the task of conducting collegiate instruction. It is, however, well that those interested in higher education should understand that the policy in question has been accepted, and that the work of carrying it out, of which a beginning has been made in the case of the Berhampore and Midnapore Colleges, will eventually be completed.

Secondary Education.

5. The progress of secondary education during the year, as indicated by the multiplication of schools and the increased attendance of pupils, has been substantial and satisfactory, though it has not been as great as that made in collegiate instructions.

The following statement defines its extent :—

Class of Schools.	1886-87.		1887-88.
	Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.
High English	272	61,227	292	67,480
Middle „	718	51,134	745	54,651
„ Vernacular	1,157	64,478	1,189	67,022
Total ...	2,147	176,839	2,226	189,103

The expenditure of Government under this head was Rs. 5,17,235 in 1886-87, and increased in 1887-88 by the sum of Rs. 16,057. The Director notices that applications for new grants have been accumulating for the last two or three years, and observes that it is much to be wished that Government were in a position to afford more liberal aid. This is doubtless desirable, but the fulfilment of the wish is very improbable, considering not only existing financial conditions, but also the more urgent claims of primary and technical education. Under the circumstances, it is necessary to draw attention to the rule on the subject of grants-in-aid, quoted in the margin, which was framed to prevent existing grants from becoming permanent, and so preventing the concession of new grants in rising localities. It is not to be supposed that Government will be able to maintain all old grants-in-aid indefinitely, and at the same time to make new allowances from year to year.

Grants will be sanctioned ordinarily for a term of three years; but the Inspector may at any time during its currency recommend the revision of any grant. A grant should ordinarily be reduced on renewal, when this can be done without serious loss of efficiency. In this way money will, from time to time, be set free, and the Department will be able to aid new schools even though the grant-in-aid allotment remains stationary. Notice of any proposed reduction shall in all cases be given to the managers, who shall be allowed an opportunity of stating any objection that they may have to the reduction.

6 It is chiefly in connection with schools of the secondary class that the question of moral training and the maintenance of due discipline occurs. Under this head the Director observes—

"The question of school discipline continues to occupy the attention of the higher officers of the Department, and the subject has been discussed at length in a report recently submitted to Government. A school mainly dependent for support on the fees paid by its pupils is at times compelled to tolerate breaches of discipline which a well-endowed institution can punish without fear. In Bengal the number of educational institutions of really independent position is by no means large. The admittedly superior discipline of a Government or of a missionary school is justly attributed to its solvency."

By way of diminishing the evil noticed, he suggests that the Calcutta University should refuse to recognise any school until it has been two years in existence, and until the managers have supplied full particulars of the establishment and accommodation to be provided. Such a measure might do some small good; but as the only effect of the non-recognition of a school by the University is that its candidates at the Entrance Examination are entered as private students, no great result can be expected The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to receive in future reports a fuller account of the discipline and moral training enforced in public schools. The importance of the subject is undeniable, but, in the absence of provision for periodical notice, it may frequently be overlooked

Primary education.

7. There has also been some slight progress in the department of primary education, the number of schools having increased from 48,483 in 1886-87 to 48,621 in 1887-88, the number of pupils from 1,080,085 to 1,103,422; but here the gain in numbers is comparatively small, and does not compensate for a loss which occurred in 1885-86. Practically, primary education in Bengal has reached a stationary state, and such variations as occur from year to year in the numbers are due rather to alterations in the system of registration than to any real advance or retrogression. The Provincial Government has not in recent years been able to make any increase in the assignment under this head, and there is not, as in the case of English education, a spontaneous tendency to the spread of elementary instruction, irrespective of Government assistance, beyond the classes which it at present reaches. With regard to the point which has hitherto been attained in the education of the people generally, the Director of Public Instruction writes—

"The population of Bengal, excluding Cooch Behar, Hill Tipperah, and the Tributary States of Chota Nagpore, of which the schools are not included in our returns, amounted by the last census to 68,160,598, of whom 33,917,217 were males, and 34,243,381 were females. Reckoned at the usual proportion of 15 per cent., the number of male children of school-going age would be 5,087,582, and the number of female children 5,136,507. Of the scholars in our returns, 1,362,119 are boys and 90,826 are girls. Hence, of all boys of a school-going age over one in four is at school; of girls, 1 in 56. It has recently, however, been argued that 20 per cent. more nearly represents the proportion of children of school-going age. As the number of towns and villages in Bengal is close upon 260,000, it appears that there is one school to every four villages."

The estimate that one boy in every four is at school indicates how much remains to be done, as it implies that three-fourths of the male population have not as yet been touched by our educational system: and there is reason to believe that the estimate itself is sanguine. If the school-going age be taken as from five to fifteen the proportion of children which it includes is not 15 or even 20, but 26·93 per cent. The population must have increased since the census of 1881, and there is reason to believe that the figures given, which are taken from the return of those on the rolls at the close of the year, include many children who never attend or never learn. Out of more than 1,100,000 pupils registered, only 330,921 were examined under the system of payment by results, of whom 199,880 were passed. The census report showed only one male in ten as able to read and write. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets the depletion of Provincial finances on no account more strongly than because it prevents him, at least for the present, from carrying out the recommendations of the Education Commission in regard to primary education, which included a considerable increase in the annual expenditure.

8. The total expenditure from Provincial and District Funds on primary education during the year was Rs. 6,82,089, against Rs. 7,36,243 in 1886-87, the decrease of Rs. 54,154 being apparently due to delay in payments, which caused large sums due in 1887-88 to fall over into the following year. There was certainly no desire on the part of Government to make the transfer of these schools to District Boards an opportunity for diminishing the grant, which was founded on the actual expenditure of 1885-86. The Director observes that "the total amount contributed by municipalities to the support of primary schools was Rs. 16,355, varying from Rs. 7,805 in the Presidency Division, Rs. 2,815 in Patna, and Rs. 1,968 in Burdwan, to smaller sums in other divisions. In the 24-Pergunnahs the municipal contributions fell off by Rs. 1,182. The new Municipal Act for Calcutta contains a section empowering the Commissioners to spend money on primary and technical schools." The Lieutenant-Governor notices with approval these contributions from municipal resources, considering the importance of popular education to be such that it has a fair claim to aid, even from an income on which there are numerous and urgent demands. The mofussil municipalities benefited at the expense of provincial funds to the extent of over three lakhs of rupees a year, when the police charges in urban areas were assumed by Government from the beginning of the year 1882, and it was then assumed that a part of the surplus thus created would be devoted to education.

9. The following statement shows the manner in which the available funds were utilised in the different divisions:—

Divisions.	Schools.	Pupils.	Expenditure.	Cost per school in rupees.	Cost per pupil in annas.
			Rs.

Orissa Tributary Mehals ...	89	1,274	1,850	20·7	23·2

The amount for expenditure being so limited in comparison with the population to be educated, it is of the utmost importance that the method should be adopted which produces the greatest effect at the smallest cost. Experience has shown that this system is for Bengal what is known as that of payment by results, as distinguished from the grant of fixed stipends to teachers, and the rules made for the guidance of District Boards recognise no other as permissible. These instructions appear to have been generally observed, except in the district of Rajshahye, as to which the Director states that the Board have during the past twelve months raised the cost of each school from Rs. 16·5 to Rs. 56·3 a year by the adoption of a system of stipends all round, in substitution of a mixed system of stipends and rewards. The number of schools in Rajshahye has at the same time been reduced from 578 to 291, that of pupils from 11,901 to 7,490. The Director was informed in December last that the change thus made was inconsistent with the rules, and he will now be asked to report what action has since been taken to place the administration of the grant in Rajshahye on a proper footing. A stipendiary school costs five or six times as much as one conducted on the principle of payment by results, and a general reversion to the former principle could only be interpreted, under present financial circumstances, as the abandonment of the attempt to give an elementary education to any considerable proportion of the population. In the 24-Pergunnahs, Moorshedabad, Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah, the regulation districts of Chittagong, Shahabad, Sarun, Purneah, and Cuttack, the average cost of schools to Government has been kept below ten rupees a year. This economy can only have been obtained by a careful and intelligent adoption of small means to a great end, in particular by utilising to the utmost all indigenous methods and institutions. It is believed that results not dissimilar might be produced in some other districts, and the subject needs the most careful consideration on the part of the Educational authorities.

Special instruction.

10. There are in Bengal 37 institutions for imparting special instructions in some profession, art, or industry, as distinguished from the general education more commonly sought. Some details as to their strength are given below:—

It will be observed that the law students are far the most numerous, that, excepting a small and decreasing minority, not constituting a ninth of the whole, they read in unaided schools, and that they cost the public nothing even when they attend Government schools. These facts and the increase in the number of law students illustrate the popularity of the profession, and its profitable nature. The study of medicine on the other hand, at least on the ordinary lines, is confined to Government institutions, and in its higher department is proportionately very expensive to the State, each student costing Government Rs. 877-8-1 a year, a sum far in excess of that reported in regard to any other form of instruction. The number of pupils in the Medical College has diminished from 172 last year to 160, though there has been an increase of ten in the free female class. On the other hand, the schools where instruction is given in the vernacular are advancing in number and reputation. There has been an increased attendance in the Engineering College, Seebpore, but it is marked as an unfavourable sign that only one student from that institution passed for the B. E. degree. The condition of this most important school has formed the subject of enquiry during the year, with special reference to the small success which has attended it at the University examinations, and the report of the Committee appointed to investigate the subject has been very recently received by the Director of Public Instruction. The survey schools have done well during the year, and their pupils readily find employment. The number of pupils in the Government School of Art increased from 152 to 158. As to this valuable institution, which is somewhat of the nature of a technical college, the Director writes—

"In July, 1887, a revised course of instruction was framed for each class. Arrangements have also been made to hold annual examinations in free-hand drawing, model-drawing geometry, and perspective. Art certificates of the third or higher grade will be awarded to those students who execute the prescribed works in each class and pass the required examinations in each group These groups comprise advanced free-hand and light-and-shade drawing, elementary painting and design, advanced painting and drawing, architectural and mechanical drawing, and modelling. Certificates of proficiency will also be granted to competent students in the lithographic, wood-engraving, metal-chasing, and wood-carving classes. Four annual scholarships have been established by the Public Works Department for competition by students in the architectural and mechanical drawing classes. The successful students, after completing the preliminary course in the school prescribed by the Public Works Department, will have the advantage of one year's practical work in the drawing branch of the Chief Engineer's office, with an allowance of Rs. 15 a month each for the first six months, and an increase of Rs. 5 a month if satisfactory progress is made. There were seven competitors for the studentships, whose works were submitted for examination to Mr. W. Banks Gwyther, A.R.I.B.A., who expressed his satisfaction with the quality of the work done by this newly-inaugurated class.

"Their Excellencies the Viceroy and the Countess of Dufferin visited the school on the 27th March, 1888. His Excellency was pleased to award a silver and a bronze medal for competition: 'the silver medal to be awarded to the student who, at the end of the year, has executed the best series of works in any of the classes.'

"Mr. Jobbins reports that, as a result of the practical character of the instruction now imparted, the students are finding remunerative employment. One has lately been appointed head-draftsman in the office of the Engineer-in-Chief, Sind-Pishin State Railway."

The industrial schools are conducted on a small scale, aiming at little more than the teaching of ordinary mechanical arts to a limited number of pupils of the artisan class; but on the whole they did well during the year. It may be said generally that the few technical institutions which exist in Bengal hold their own, without any marked advance or retrogression, being in this respect less successful than the colleges and schools for English education, which progress rapidly, though receiving much less assistance from Government. This remark does not apply to the law classes, which flourish of their own vitality, without assistance from the State. The question of promoting technical education in new directions has been examined during the year by the Seebpore College Committee, and will come before Government again when the report of that body is received with the remarks of the Director of Public Instruction. All schemes for instruction of this class involve considerable expense, and it has not been thought necessary to expedite their examination during a season of financial pressure.

Female education.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the statement of the Director of Public Instruction that the medical education of women made a decided advance during the year. In the Medical College five young ladies were reading as regular students for the L.M.S. or M.B. degree, and one of them (Miss Virginia Mitter) headed the list of successful candidates at the first M.B. examination. Besides the regular students, 21 young ladies attend lectures in the Medical College for a special certificate under the new regulations. A class for instructing females through the medium of the vernacular was opened in June, 1886, in the Campbell Medical School, and is attended by 15 students. The progress of female education generally is indicated by the figures given below:—

	1886-87.		1887-88.
	Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.
Girls' schools	2,198	43,290	2,247	46,038
Girls in boys' schools ...	.....	37,764	.....	37,785
GRAND TOTAL ...	2,198	81,054	2,247	83,823

The Director draws attention to the fact that the greatest numerical results are produced in this department by rewarding the teachers of primary schools for the attendance of girls. He observes that "a grant-in-aid girls' school costs Rs. 178 a year, while a primary grant school costs only Rs. 20. There is no limit to the number of girls that can be educated in boys' schools, if the District and Local Boards, in whose hands the administration of the primary grant now rests, find it possible to maintain and increase the existing rates of aid." There has been a most satisfactory advance in the number of girls under instruction in the Dacca and Patna Divisions, counterbalanced, to some extent, by a falling off in some other divisions. In the higher walks of female education it is noticed that the Bethune College, the Free Church Normal School, and the Doveton Institution for Young Ladies, sent up successful candidates for the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University, while the Bethune College also passed two candidates at the B.A. Examination.

Education of Europeans.

12. The number of European schools remained the same as in the previous year, being 72 in all; there was an increase in the attendance from 6,391 to 6,541. The Government expenditure under this head was Rs. 1,73,018 against Rs. 2,50,367 last year, the decrease being in the grants for buildings. The effort which has been made for some years to give to the education of Europeans a more practical turn, by substituting a special examination for that of the Entrance to the Calcutta University, has entirely failed, not a single boy having appeared as a candidate. It is evident that the authority of a University having a monopoly of the power to grant degrees is sufficient to regulate the course of study in all Bengal schools, of whatever class, and this is an additional argument in favour of introducing an alternative standard, adapted to the requirements of those who need a practical rather than a literary education. The allowances to high schools continue to be regulated by a very minute system of payment by results, involving the examination by a Government Inspector of every boy in every subject. The success of the schools may be roughly gauged by the percentage earned of the total possible grant, which was 73 per cent., a great improvement on the results of the previous year. This progress is, however, attributed in part to a change in the system of marking.

Education of Muhammadans.

13. The Director notices that there has been a satisfactory increase in the attendance of Muhammadans at the higher institutions of instruction. In Arts colleges such pupils have increased from 138 to 217; in English schools, from 13,218 to 14,864; in middle vernacular schools, from 9,053 to 9,860; and besides this absolute increase, the percentage is in each case higher than last year. The total number of Muhammadan students also rose from 366,886 to 401,671, and the percentage from 26·9 to 27·6, figures to be compared with the percentage of 31·5 borne by Muhammadans to the whole population of Bengal; the apparent improvement is not, however, due to any real development, but to the correction of an error made during the last two years in the method of registering certain Koran schools, which were removed from the aided list, without being placed on that of private institutions. There is still some doubt as to the expediency of the course adopted in withdrawing aid from these schools, and the matter is under consideration. The appointment of two Muhammadan Assistant Inspectors, which has been sanctioned for some time, and is now to be immediately carried into effect, will afford facilities for considering such questions from the Muhammadan point of view. Three scholarships were founded in July, 1886, of Rs. 20 a month each, tenable for a year-and-a-half, by any student of the Calcutta Madrassa who has obtained the B.A. degree with honours. This raises the total number of special Muhammadan scholarships to 134. The attendance at Madrassas generally increased from 1,120 to 1,229, in the Calcutta Madrassa (Oriental Department) from 339 to 362. The total number of students in the Calcutta Madrassa was 1,183 against 1,119 in the previous year. A change has recently been effected in the constitution of the College Department of the Madrassa, which, it is hoped, will give the students the advantage of the superior tuition of the Presidency College, without depriving them of the special attraction of a denominational institution.

General summary.

14. The progress made in the extension of education of all kinds during the year may be gathered from the following statement of the number of enrolled pupils:—

	1887.	1888.	Increase per cent.	Decrease per cent.

It is observed with satisfaction that there has been an improvement in the general result, and also in all the more important departments.

15. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to Sir Alfred Croft for his able management of the Education Department during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE following report is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

REVENUE DEPT., P. NOLAN,

The 10th January 1889. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY OF THE MONSOON PERIOD OF 1888.

THE following statement is intended to give a very brief history of the more important features which have characterised the south-west monsoon period and the preceding months of 1888 in Bengal.

The month of January was of ordinary cold-weather character, and was rather free from the influence of land-formed storms, for, up till the 22nd, no depression affected the weather in the province. From this date the usual conditions were almost reversed in Bengal by the formation and advance of a depression from Northern India. The storm first made its appearance to the south of Quetta and west of Jacobabad on the 20th, having apparently been already fully formed before it crossed from Afghanistan into India. It then travelled through Central India and passed through the south of the province of Bengal, entering the Bay of Bengal near Gopalpore and crossing it to near Akyab, when it again passed inland or disappeared. As the result mainly of this storm, rainfall was decidedly heavier than usual in Chutia Nagpur, South Behar, Orissa, South-West Bengal and East Bengal, though it was below the normal in North Bengal and North Behar. Pressure was also above the normal by 0·033 inch, while temperature was below it by nearly a degree and a half. Humidity was also slightly below the normal, while on the other hand cloud proportion was above it.

In February two feeble low pressure areas drifted across Bengal in an easterly direction, which gave rainfall mainly to Chutia Nagpur and Orissa, and South-West and East Bengal, which divisions received falls in excess of the normal. Smaller amounts of rain than usual fell in North Bengal, while Behar was practically rainless. Pressure in February was practically normal, and temperature about one degree above it, and the normal steady rise in temperature during the month was clearly marked. There were also as usual some remarkable oscillations of humidity, due to the occasional setting in of moist sea winds from the head of the Bay, and their subsequent retreat on being driven back by the land winds.

In March there was again the usual continued rapid rise of temperature, and the mean temperature of the province at the end of the month was nearly 10° higher than at the commencement, while temperature remained about one degree above the normal. Two periods of disturbance, during which hot-weather storms or nor'-westers were numerous, also existed during the month, and these gave rainfall heavier than the normal to North Behar, North Bengal and East Bengal, while the falls in Chutia Nagpur, South Behar, South-West Bengal and Orissa were comparatively small and below the normal. Some of these storms were very intense, and probably two of them were of the nature of tornadoes. The first of these was on March 27th at Magura in the Jessore district, which did a moderate amount of damage, and the second was on the same day in the Pubna district, when several villages were much affected by it. Pressure in March was almost normal, while humidity and cloud proportion were somewhat below it.

In April ordinary hot-weather conditions prevailed for the first few days, and a few ordinary nor'-westers only were recorded up till the 7th, when one of the most violent storms on record in India occurred, Dacca being visited by an extremely fierce tornado at about 7 o'clock in the evening of April 7th. The breadth of the tornado path was about 200 paces, and the length about three and a-half miles, and it caused 118 deaths, while 1,200 persons were somewhat severely wounded. After the occurrence of this storm ordinary hot-weather conditions continued up till about the 18th, when again a period of disturbance set in accompanied by local storms or nor'-westers, which lasted up till the close of the month. Again, one of these storms was of the nature of a tornado, and Bhudressur, a small town close to Serampore, was partially demolished at about 8 p.m. on April 23rd, when several persons were killed and many injured. The rainfall brought up by these disturbed conditions was in excess of the normal amount in South-West Bengal, East Bengal, North Bengal, and North Behar, while it was below the normal in Orissa, South Behar, and Chutia Nagpur. Pressure was also no less than 0·042 inch below the normal, while temperature was about half a degree above it.

In May there were three periods during which the weather was disturbed, and when local storms with rain occurred · the first period was for the first two or three days of the month, the second from the 6th to the 10th, and the third from the 16th to the end of the month, but except in North Behar, where rainfall was normal in amount, all divisions reported a rainfall rather decidedly in defect of the normal, the defect in South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and South Behar being large.

Up till the end of May therefore the general meteorological conditions in Bengal had not differed to any very large extent from the normal, and in the south of the Bay the first advance of south-west monsoon winds had been reported from the Ceylon stations on about the 8th and 9th of May, and in front of this advance a small cyclonic storm was formed, which crossed the Madras coast. This advance, however, does not appear to have progressed very far up the Bay. The second advance commenced about the 17th of the same month, and lasted about five days, as shown by the high wind velocities at the Ceylon stations, and it would appear that in this advance the monsoon winds reached about the centre of the Bay when they again died away. The third advance of the monsoon current commenced in the south of the Bay on the 27th, and very strong winds were reported at the Ceylon stations up till the 1st of June, and fairly strong winds for some days afterwards. This represented a very powerful advance of the monsoon current, and it is probable that equally unsettled weather obtained over the whole of the centre and south of the Bay at this time. This afterwards developed into a diffused depression, which advanced towards the west coast of the Bay, reaching the South Orissa coast on the morning of the 5th, and in its advance over the land it brought up moderate general rain to a large part of the province, which continued up till the 9th and 10th of the month. At this time all the meteorological conditions appeared favorable for the early setting in of the rains, and under ordinary circumstances the next advance of monsoon winds would have drifted over the province and the regular rains would have broken. But though strong winds continued to be reported in the south of the Bay, particularly for some days about the 6th, again from the 17th and from the 21st, indicating that there were successive waves of strong monsoon winds passing up the Bay, yet rainfall remained practically absent from Bengal from about the 10th up till the 27th to the 29th of the month. The cause of this almost complete stoppage of the progress of the rain-bearing current towards Bengal appears to have been that a feeble but very persistent area of comparatively low pressure with disturbed conditions generally existed at this period in the centre of the Bay off the Arakan and West Pegu coasts. This was accompanied by a feeble but distinctly marked whirl or cyclonic circulation of winds, and this had the effect of deflecting the rain-bearing current in an easterly direction towards Burma and Assam. This area of depression from the Bay apparently advanced over South-West Bengal at the end of June, and at the same time the monsoon current from the Arabian Sea began to make itself felt in Bengal, and general and rather heavy rain set in from June 27th to the 29th, and the rains may thus be said to have broken at this date or at least a fortnight later than the usual date for their commencement.

During this almost rainless interval, from the 10th to the 27th, a period of excessive heat set in over Bengal, and at some stations temperatures were most exceptionally high—higher than ever before recorded. At Calcutta, in particular, a temperature of about 1·2° higher than ever previously known at that station was registered. At many stations also during this period the mean temperature was from 10° to 15° higher than the normal for the period. Thus for June the mean temperature was generally rather largely in excess, while pressure was in distinct defect. The rainfall in June over the province averaged less than half the normal amount, and in such divisions as Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and South Behar, it was only about a third of the normal. In this month rainfall was exceptionally deficient in the districts of Cuttack, Maldah, and Hazaribagh.

In July the south-west monsoon current was particularly strong, and the general rainfall of the province was nearly twenty per cent. in excess of the normal fall. The only division, indeed, which received a diminished fall was Orissa, where the actual only equalled about four-fifths of the normal, but in South-West Bengal, Behar, and Chutia Nagpur the falls were particularly heavy. Very large defects were in July again reported in the rainfall of the Cuttack district, while in the Pooree district the fall was less than half the usual amount. In North Bengal also the Bogra and Rungpore districts reported rather considerable defects. In this month three barometric depressions and one small cyclonic storm were formed. Two of the depressions were generated over the land and the third close to the Sunderbuns, while the small cyclonic storm formed in the centre of the Bay and crossed the Orissa coast between Pooree and Gopalpore.

In August, again, the monsoon current, as judged by the heaviness of the rainfall brought up by it, was exceptionally strong, and, generally speaking, the rainfall of the whole of the province was about 40 per cent. in excess of the normal. So heavy in fact was the rainfall in this month that in most districts the deficiency in the rainfall caused by the serious retardation of the monsoon current in June was more than neutralized, and the rainfall for the year up to the end of August was above the normal in all districts except North Bengal. Notwithstanding the heaviness of the general rainfall in August, the Purneah and Julpigoree districts received falls largely in defect of the normal, while in Rungpore, Cooch Behar, Darjeeling, Chumparun, and Durbhanga the falls were in moderate defect. On the other hand, some districts, such as Cuttack, Howrah, and Gya, received falls more than twice the normal. The falls in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and South Behar were in fact particularly heavy, and were partly brought about by the passage of a cyclonic storm which was generated over the Sunderbuns on the 19th, and passed through South-West Bengal into South Behar, breaking up in the North-West Provinces on the 29th. Besides this cyclonic storm, there were also two influential and two smaller and rather feeble depressions which influenced the province, three of which formed over the north-west angle of the Bay and part of South-West Bengal, and advanced in a north-westerly direction, while the fourth formed in North Bengal and moved in a westerly direction across the whole of India, only breaking up in the Runn of Cutch. In August pressure was decidedly in defect of the normal, while temperature was also rather lower than usual.

In September the monsoon current weakened much more rapidly than usual, and the total rainfall of the month was only equal to about three-fourths of the normal amount. In addition to the lightness of the rainfall, the greater part of the rain was received during the first half of the month, and rainfall was generally very light for the second half. Indeed, in some districts rainfall had entirely ceased before the close of September. Thus in Behar the south-west monsoon rains almost entirely ceased from about the 27th, and the same was to a great extent true in Chutia Nagpur. The largest defects in this month were reported in North Bengal and North Behar, where the falls were only from one-half to two-thirds of the normal amounts, while in the Pubna, Cooch Behar, Purneah, and Mozufferpore districts the falls varied from only one-half to one-third of the usual amounts.

Three depressions were formed over the Bay in this month—the first two were unimportant, and they occurred during the first seven days and gave moderate rain only, but the third was a very noticeable storm, and it lasted from the 12th to the 20th. This storm apparently originated in the Gulf of Siam, and it crossed from that place to the north of Tavoy into the Gulf of Martaban as a well-formed cyclone. It then crossed South Pegu a little to the north of Diamond Island, strengthening rapidly in its advance, and then advanced across the Bay of Bengal, striking the Orissa coast near False Point, and as it approached the land the velocity of advance of the storm was probably at least 20 miles an hour. The storm then passed through Orissa and afterwards advanced, first in a north-westerly and then in a northerly direction, finally breaking up in the Mussoorie and Simla Hills on the 20th or 21st. It brought very heavy rain in the line of its advance.

When the effects of this storm passed away, the monsoon current rapidly retreated from the province and commenced to retreat down the Bay, so that at the end of September practically no rain was falling. In front of the retreating current, however, a cyclonic storm of moderate intensity was formed near Diamond Island on October 1st, and this very slowly advanced up to the head of the Bay, striking the coast near Burisal on the night of the 6th, and then advancing in a north-easterly direction. This storm brought heavy rain to East Bengal, which received almost its normal fall for October; but in all other districts rainfall was much below the normal, the falls generally varying from a quarter to a third of the normal amount. In South-West Bengal, Orissa, and Chutia Nagpur, moderate showers fell in the early part of the month up to about the 7th, but the falls in North Bengal and South Behar were particularly scanty, and in North Behar practically no rain at all fell. Even the falls which were received were less valuable than they might have been, from the fact that they were confined to a few days only in the early part of the month, and rainfall was practically absent over the greater part of the province from the 7th, though a few showers fell in Chutia Nagpur and parts of South Behar on the 28th and 29th. It must also be added that general rain commenced to fall in the south of Orissa at the end of October.

In previous years it has been the custom to close the review of the monsoon season with the meteorology of October, but in the present year the meteorology of November has been so important that it is desirable to state briefly the general conditions during this month. At the close of October a violent cyclone was formed in the south of the Bay, which passed almost over Madras on the 31st, crossing the peninsula into the Arabian Sea. The wave of moist winds accompanying and following the cyclone then advanced up the west coast of the Bay of Bengal, and gradually and slowly spread over Bengal. This moist current gave moderate rain to Orissa from about the 30th October to the 14th of November; moderate rain to South-West Bengal from the 9th to the 14th; and moderate rain to East and North Bengal on the 14th November; and light, but rather local, rain in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur from the 12th to the 14th. The moist winds then retired, but at the end of November a land-formed disturbance from Upper India drifted over the province, and good general rain was received over practically the whole of Behar on about the 28th or 29th. All divisions therefore received fairly general, and in some cases rather heavy, rain in November, and the falls in all divisions, except East Bengal, were largely above the normal. Orissa received an average fall of nearly three inches, South-West Bengal one of about one and-a-half inches. n North Bengal, East Bengal, South Behar, and Chutia Nagpur the falls averaged from about four to five-tenths of an inch, but in North Behar the average was only about two-tenths. The districts in which the falls were smallest in November were—Chittagong, Noakholly, Durbhunga, Chumparun, Mozufferpur, Sarun, Backergunge, and Rajshahye.

The most important features of the monsoon season of 1888 and of the months preceding it in Bengal have been—

1. The occurrence of several tornadoes of an extremely violent type during March and April.

2. The general rainfall was fairly normal in character for the first five months of the year, i.e., nearly up to the usual date of the commencement of the true rainy season.

3. There was a period of exceptionally intense heat in June owing to the serious retardation of the rains.

4. The advance of monsoon current took place at about the usual period in the south of the Bay; but owing to the existence of an area of barometric depression off the Arakan and Pegu coasts, the monsoon winds were deflected towards Burma and Assam during the greater part of June, and the true rains did not break in Bengal until the 27th June, or rather more than a fortnight later than usual.

5. The rainfall current was very strong during July and August, and gave exceptionally heavy rain.

6. The monsoon current was very light in September, and retreated more rapidly than usual, and rainfall in this month was only about three-fourths as large as usual.

7. In October, except at the commencement of the month and in East Bengal, rainfall was to a great extent absent.

8. In November good general, but in most cases rather light, rain fell over practically the whole province.

9. The following tables give briefly the amount and variation of the rainfall in each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province, month by month, for the monsoon season, May to October inclusive:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Means of six days.

Explanation.—Summary. The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed in percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number are the numerical means of six days of the readings in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the past 24 stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 11th of January 1889

Calcutta, the 15th January 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 11TH OF JANUARY 1889.

DURING the week fine weather has again prevailed over the whole reporting area. The very high pressure over South Bengal, and the northern part of the Bay, which obtained during the early part of the week, was accompanied by light irregular breezes, and almost cloudless skies. These light winds had in Bengal and over the northern half of the Bay a westerly tendency, but further south, strong north-easterly winds have prevailed. From the middle of the week, the abnormally high pressure began to give way, and, with the exception of Thursday, the 10th, pressure continued to fall to the end of the week, the fall on the last day being rapid, and at some stations almost equalling a tenth of an inch. The temperature changed by small irregular amounts, humidity increased, and light variable winds became common in Bengal and over the Bay. Pressure was above the normal the first three days of the week, but during the latter half, the continued falls resulted in a defect. Temperature has been about normal, and humidity high. Slight clouds have been reported from some districts of Bengal, but generally fine cloudless weather has prevailed with light variable north-westerly winds, high pressure, and fairly steady temperature.

Pressure.—On Saturday, the first day of the week, a general small rise took place, and pressure was almost uniform over the province and the Bay. On Sunday a rapid rise began, the greatest changes being reported from the East Coast stations and those of North-East Bengal. The rise continued till Monday, the 7th, when abnormally high pressures were recorded in South-West Bengal and Orissa in some cases exceeding 30·2 inches. Gradients over the Bay became very steep. Afterwards the pressure began to fall, and this fall continued, with the exception of Thursday, the 10th, to the end of the week. The fall was most rapid at the head of the Bay. The total change during the week has been very small, and but for the difference of pressure in the Bay being not quite so large as they were, the pressure distribution at the end of this week is almost identical with that at the close of the preceding week.

The general average pressure for the week has been above the normal in all districts, the excess averaging 0·04 inch. The excess is, however, smallest in the north of the province as indicated by such stations as Purneah and Durbhunga, and in South-West Bengal as represented by Calcutta and Burdwan, while it is comparatively large in East and Central Bengal.

Temperature.—The changes of temperature have been small and irregular, and there has been no general variation from the mean, some stations reporting small excess, and the others a similar defect. At the beginning of the week a slight rise was reported from almost all stations. This rise continued in Bengal for the three first days of the week, but a fall, commencing in Burmah on Monday, became general, and slight falls were everywhere reported on Tuesday, the 8th. After that, though the changes were very irregular, slight falls were generally reported. On Friday, the 11th, a rise occurred over the whole of Bengal, but several Burmah stations and Chittagong reported a slight fall.

The mean temperature for the week for the whole province has been about one degree below the normal; but while defective temperatures have been recorded in the north and east of the province as indicated by such districts as North Behar, North Bengal, and East Bengal; on the other hand, South Behar and Chutia Nagpur have shown excess temperatures. The lowest temperature reported during the week is from Burdwan, where 44·0° was registered on the 7th. The minimum or night temperatures have indeed been distinctly low during the week. This is shown clearly in the following table, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. At almost all these stations the minimum or night temperatures have been in defect of the normal, while the day temperatures have been in considerable excess.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remained as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of [illegible] under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

5*th*—That the loss of the salt occurred before the completion of the act of formal delivery of the boat's cargo.

6*th*—That application for reweighment was made without any avoidable delay to the Superintendent of the Preventive Service.

7*th*—That before the reweighment the salt was (except under special circumstances which may render this impossible) in the custody of a Customs Officer to be deputed under paragraph VI.

8*th*—That the expenses incurred for custody of the salt and reweighment have been paid by the rowannah-holder or other person concerned with the salt.

II.—The act of formal delivery of the boat's cargo is to be considered to be completed when (a) the salt in the boat has been adulled, or (b) the boat-note has been made over, or (c) the boat with a full cargo has cast off from the ship's side or the jetty at the salt golahs.

III.—Refunds of duty will not be allowed after completion of delivery in the case of loss by any accident, such as collision with buoys, the Hooghly bridge, ships or other boats, or stormy weather. On the occurrence of a cyclone, the special circumstances of the case will be considered.

IV.—The PREVENTIVE OFFICER is, before commencing delivery, to give notice in writing to the rowannahdar or his koyal or sirdar cooly, or the person taking delivery on his behalf, whose name is endorsed on the back of the rowannah, whether the boat into which it is proposed to take delivery is unsafe or unfit for a salt cargo; and, if the boat appears to become unsafe or unfit during the course of delivery, he is similarly to give notice.

V.—If the rowannah-holder or his representative (as described in paragraph IV) decide to take delivery or to continue taking delivery into a boat which the Preventive Officer has stated to be unsafe or unfit for a salt cargo, he is to be required to endorse his decision on the written notice given by the Preventive Officer, and no claim for refund of duty will, in event of loss, be entertained.

VI.—If the PREVENTIVE OFFICER during the course of delivery, i.e., before it is formally complete, consider it necessary for the safety of the salt to order that the boat be cast off from the ship and beached, he may do so. He is then to arrange for the Customs flag to be hoisted on the foremast head for the information of the DIVISIONAL AND PATROL CUSTOMS OFFICER, who is on arrival to arrange for the safe custody of the salt by placing it, if possible, under adul, and if necessary sending an application to the SUPERINTENDENT of the PREVENTIVE SERVICE for a special CUSTOMS OFFICER to take charge thereof.

VII.—The special CUSTOMS OFFICER deputed under paragraph VI is to be paid for at the rate of five rupees a day with the usual fees for overtime work. If the rowannah-holder or his representative (as described in paragraph IV) declines to ask for the services of a special officer, the salt is to be left at his risk, and no claim for refund of duty will be entertained. If the salt has already been taken into safe custody, it is not to be given up until all expenses have been paid.

VIII.—On an application for reweighment of salt alleged to have been saved from boat-wreck, the SUPERINTENDENT of the PREVENTIVE SERVICE is to require the applicant to pay the expenses of the special officer deputed under paragraph VI and of the reweighment, and is on payment thereof to have the salt reweighed at once.

IX.—The object of this notice is to show the circumstances under which a claim for refund of duty on loss of salt by boat-wreck will not be entertained. No promise is made that claims entertained will necessarily be granted, and no admission is hereby made that any claim can be made as of right under any section of any law.

PEARL FISHERY AT DUTCH BAY IN CEYLON.

The following communication is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor,
P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Dated the 15th January 1889.

No. 89, dated Colombo, the 17th December 1888.

From—The Colonial Secretary, Government of Ceylon,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India.

I AM directed by His Excellency the Hon'ble Arthur H. Gordon, Governor of Ceylon, to transmit to you the accompanying advertisement of a Pearl Fishery which it is intended to hold in Dutch Bay on the west coast of Ceylon in February 1889, and I am to request you to be good enough, with the permission of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India in Council, to have them widely circulated.

PEARL FISHERY OF 1889.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Pearl Fishery will take place at Dutch Bay, in the Island of Ceylon, on or about 10th February 1889. The bank to be fished is the Muttuwartu Paar, in 5 to 7 fathoms water, estimated to contain oysters sufficient to employ 100 boats for 30 days with average loads of 10,000 oysters each per day.

It is therefore necessary that such boat owners and divers as may wish to be employed at the said fishery should be at Dutch Bay on or before 6th February next; and it is notified that the first day's fishing will take place on or about 10th February, if possible.

Dutch Bay is on the west coast of Ceylon, 25 miles south of Silávatturai and 4 miles north of Kalpitiya. It can be reached by sea or by backwater from Colombo.

The fishery will be conducted on account of Government, and the oysters put up to sale in such lots as may be deemed expedient.

The arrangements of the fishery will be the same as have been usual on similar occasions.

All payment to be made in ready money in Ceylon currency.

Drafts on the banks in Colombo or bills on the Agents of this Government in India, at ten days' sight, will be taken, on letters of credit being produced to warrant the drawing of such drafts or bills.

For the convenience of purchasers, the Treasurer at Colombo and the different Government Agents of Provinces will be authorised to receive cash deposits from parties intending to become purchasers, and receipts of these officers will be taken in payment of any sums due on account of the fishery.

No deposit will be received for a less sum than Rs. 250.

By His Excellency's command,
E. NOEL WALKER,
Colonial Secretary.

Notice.

THE right of working the copper mines at Chunabatti, in the sub-division of Alipur, Western Dooars, will be put up to auction on 15th March 1889, in the Court of the Sub-divisional Officer of Alipur. Settlement will be made with the highest bidder for five years, commencing from 1st April 1889. Chunabatti is situate two miles west of Buxa in the Western Dooars. Plenty of labour, firewood and good water is available on the spot. There is a good road, and the mines can be worked with little difficulty. It is believed that any person or company who may work the mines will obtain a good profit. Sixteen seers of copper are said to be obtainable from each bazar maund of ore. A specimen of the copper can be seen at the Office of the Secretary to the Chamber of Commerce, Calcutta. Any further information will be supplied by the undersigned.

5. In No. 1 of the Second Schedule to the same Act, for the following, namely :—

*	*	*	*	*
			Re. A.
	Gunpowder, common.	lb.	0 5	10 per cent.
	Gunpower, sporting.	lb.	1 0
	All other sorts .	...	Ad valorem.

there shall be substituted the following, namely :—

No	Names of Articles.	Per	Tariff valuation.	Rate of duty.
*	*	*	*	*
			Re. A.
	Gunpowder, common.	lb.	0 5	10 per cent.
	Gunpowder, sporting.	lb.	1 0
	All other sorts of Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores.	...	Ad valorem	10 per cent.

Explanation.— The expression "Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores," as used in the foregoing part of this Schedule, includes, in addition to any article specifically mentioned in that part,—

(a) all articles which are either "arms" or "ammunition" within the meaning of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, and XI of 1878.

(b) any articles which the Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare to be "military stores" for the purposes of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE main object of this Bill (section 1) is to repeal the proviso to section 37 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, which enacts that when the rate of duty or tariff-valuation (if any) applicable to any goods imported has been raised after the grant of port-clearance at the port of shipment, the rate and valuation applicable to such goods shall be, not the rate and valuation in force on the date on which the bill-of-entry thereof is delivered to the Customs-collector under section 86 of the Act, but the rate and valuation in force on the date on which port-clearance at the port of shipment was granted. There is no precedent for such a proviso either in the law of England or, so far as the Government of India has been able to ascertain, in the law of any other country. The proviso was adversely criticised while the Bill, which became the Sea Customs Act, 1878, was under consideration : it has had the effect, which was then anticipated, of seriously disturbing trade, and it has caused very heavy loss of revenue to the Government.

Another object of the Bill (section 2) is to make it clear that where, after goods liable to duty have been assessed and warehoused, the duty is repealed, the goods may be cleared from the warehouse for home-consumption free of duty.

A third object (section 4) is to introduce into India the rule enacted in 18 & 19 Vict., c. 97, s. 9, and continued in 39 & 40 Vict., c. 36, s. 20. It was proposed to incorporate such a rule in the Bill which became the Sea Customs Act, 1878, but the proposal was not approved by the mercantile community and was on that account abandoned. The rule, however, has been in operation in the United Kingdom since 1855, and would seem, from the fact of its re-enactment by Parliament in 1876 and from the absence of any reference to it in the Law Reports, not to have entailed the ill effects which were feared when its introduction into India was last considered. In these circumstances, it is held to be desirable to insert the rule in the Bill with a view to its being carefully considered again.

A fourth object (section 5) is to define the expression "arms, ammunition and military stores," as used in the Indian Tariff Act, 1882, and to enable the Governor General in Council to declare from time to time what articles are to be deemed to be "military stores" within the meaning of the Act. The amendment necessary for this purpose will not affect any notification for the time being in force under section 23 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878.

WITHDRAWAL OF THE INLAND EMIGRATION ACT FROM THE DISTRICTS OF CHITTAGONG AND THE CHITTAGONG HILL TRACTS.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT INLAND EMIGRATION.

Calcutta, the 8th January 1889.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The following correspondence on the subject of the proposed withdrawal of the districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts from the operation of the Inland Emigration Act No. I of 1882:—

Letter from the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, No. 767GM—IX-5, dated 13th August 1888.

Letter to the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, No. 95T—G, dated 18th October 1888.

Letter from the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, dated 31st October 1888.

Letter from the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, No. 1098, dated 9th November 1888.

Letter to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, No. 186, dated 3rd December 1888.

Letter from the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, No. 234—26-24E., dated 21st December 1888.

The special procedure provided by Act I of 1882 for enforcing labour contracts in certain specified areas is in force, as far as the Lower Provinces are concerned, only in the districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts. The Commissioner of Chittagong has frequently urged their withdrawal as not required in his division; and in reviewing the departmental report for the year 1885, Sir Rivers Thompson so far accepted this view as to express a hope that the time was approaching when, considering the falling off in the number of labourers enrolled under the Act, it would be possible to adopt the course recommended. As the results of the following year showed a further decline, Sir Steuart Bayley called for a special report on the subject, which the Commissioner has since submitted. In this communication it is stated that such planters as had been consulted are unanimous in considering that the Act is not required, the ordinary law being sufficient to guard the interests both of employers and employed. This is the view of the District Officers also, and the Commissioner gives his own opinion as follows:—

"It is not adapted to a district where labour is as plentiful as it is here, and where there is, now at least, no objection to taking work on a garden. So far as I have seen, the Act here is entirely against the interests of the cooly and of the better class of planters, while it is favourable to the worst class of planters only. Happily this last class is so small that it may be said to be non-existent. I strongly recommend, therefore, that under the provisions of section 4, the Inland Emigration Act be withdrawn entirely from the districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts."

2. In deciding whether the recommendation thus forcibly expressed by the local officers should be accepted, the Lieutenant-Governor has to give due weight to the consideration that the Government of India has repeatedly indicated for adoption the policy of dispensing with special legislation on the subject of labour contracts wherever it is possible to do so, leaving the matter to the operation of the ordinary law of the country. "Such legislation," the Secretary of State observed in a despatch No. 102, dated 4th November 1886, "should be considered as temporary only, and clearly ought not to be maintained longer than is absolutely necessary for the protection of both the classes concerned." Viewed from this standpoint, it seems clear that the retention of the system in the two districts referred to scarcely admits of defence. In the Hill Tracts the Act cannot be said to be necessary, as it is not now resorted to even in the case of a single labourer. In Chittagong the number of labourers placed under contract according to the provisions of the Act was never large, and has rapidly decreased in recent years: it was 915 in 1884 and had fallen to 433 in 1887, with the prospect of a further decrease in the immediate future. There is nothing in the condition of the tea industry in Chittagong to suggest that it should be placed under an exceptional system, different from that prevailing in the rest of the province, and particularly in the districts of Darjeeling and Julpigoree, which are now the chief seats of the cultivation of the tea plant. Chittagong is more densely populated than other tea districts in Bengal, local labour is more generally used, and the importation of coolies is resorted to only on a very minute scale. The maintenance of the statutory contract system cannot, therefore, be looked upon as really a necessity in that district, and there is even reason to believe that, so far as it has any effect at all, it is rather a hindrance than an aid to the progress of tea cultivation. It certainly has not effected the object which the late Commissioner of Chittagong had in view when recommending its introduction in the year 1877—that of modifying the system of task work in the interest of the labourer.

3. The Inland Emigration Act leaves to the Local Government, with the previous consent of the Government of India, the power of altering from time to time the area within which the law is in force. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that this power should now be exercised, and accordingly issues the appended notification with the approval of the Governor-General in Council. The Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs to Government has advised that this measure will not affect existing contracts otherwise than by putting an end to the exceptional procedure by which they are at present enforced, leaving them in operation as ordinary engagements within the cognizance of the civil courts.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the notification be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, with reference to the correspondence ending with his letter No. $\frac{267G.M.}{IX-5}$, dated 13th August 1888, for information, and for favour of communication to the Inspectors of Labourers and Managers of tea-gardens.

Ordered also, that a copy of the Resolution and of the notification be forwarded to the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Dated Calcutta, the 8th January 1889.

NOTIFICATION—By the Government of Bengal, General Department.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature ar the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The Humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being represented by 100 A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 31 stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 18th of January 1889.
